Demands Mines Be Opened By Monday

STEELMAN SAYS PUBLIC WON'T CONDONE DELAY

Soft Coal Negotiations Go On; Judge Bars Interference By UAW at Ford Plant.

CHALMERS STILL CLOSED

Defense Mediation Board Calls Union, Company Men To Capital For Talks.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt said today that the Allis-Chalmers strike at Milwaukee is a most serious tie-up in the defense program and he threatened direct presidential action unless the controversy is settled soon.

BULLETIN

DETROIT —(AP)— Attorneys for striking CIO unionists who have closed the Ford Motor company's Rouge plant obtained subpoenas for Henry and Edsell Ford this morning in a move to combat a federal restraining order obtained by the company.

(By Associated Press)

The chief of the U. S. conciliation service demanded today the nation's soft coal mines be reopened by Monday.

"It is imperative that the mines be reopened," declared Dr. John R. Steelman, conciliation director. "The public cannot condone quibbling while 400,000 men and 85 per cent of the nation's bituminous mines stand idle."

The mines were shut down last Monday midnight when a two-year contract between the CIO United Mine Workers and major operators of the Appalachian district expired.

Negotiations toward a new contract were to resume at 2 p. m. in New York. The union asks $1 a day wage increases, a guarantee of 200 days work a year, and paid vacations.

Steelman's outspoken declaration shared attention with a new development in the CIO strike at the Ford Motor company's River Rouge, Mich., plant. A federal judge last night temporarily enjoined the CIO and the Affiliated United Mine Workers from interfering with workers entering or leaving the plant, world's largest single factory unit.

President Roosevelt himself has called on coal miners and operators not to delay defense production.

Steelman declared if a new contract is not attained within the next 24 hours, the government asks "that the United Mine Workers of America and the bituminous coal operators agree to reopen the mines." He did not say what steps, if any, the government might take if the request should be disregarded.

The Ford strike began last Tuesday, climaxing a long drive by the CIO-UAW to organize the plant. The union's immediate aims included reinstatement of employes allegedly dismissed for union activity, and an increase of 10 cents an hour in the wage scale.

Balkan Armies Mass on Borders

This map shows the concentration of troops in the Balkans today, more or less forming a "pocket" hemming in the Germans from east, south and west. Yugoslavia, amid angry Nazi warnings to remember the fate of Poland, massed its troops on the eastern and northern frontiers facing Hungary and Rumania. Russia is reported to have forces on the Rumanian border.

INJURED PILOT STAYS AT POST

Last To Leave as 16 Men Are Taken From Craft After Sitting In Water For Day.

(By Associated Press)

VERO BEACH, Fla.—All 16 occupants of a giant Eastern Airlines plane which crashed in a terrific squall lived today to tell the story of hardship and heroism.

Only one or two escaped without a scratch, but the injuries of the pilot alone were believed dangerous.

Pilot Gerald O'Brien guided the 21-passenger Douglas plane to a right-side-up landing in a pond about 9 a. m. (EST) yesterday and the 13 passengers and crew of three huddled in waist-deep water until long after dark when rescuers finally reached the scene, six miles from the nearest highway and a mile from the closest dry land.

His chest crushed and a leg injured, perhaps broken, O'Brien, of Miami, insisted upon remaining with his ship until every one else was ferried out of the marsh and given medical care. One passenger, A. G. McIntyre of West Palm Beach, an EAL employe, stayed with him.

Occupants were taken to hospitals here and at Fort Pierce.

First brought to safety were Dr. George W. Crile, eminent Cleveland physician, and his wife. Dr. Crile had a broken rib and was bruised. His wife was cheerful despite the shock and a bruised eye.

Dr. Daniel P. Quiring, Crile's aide at the Cleveland clinic, earned the praise of the passengers for moving about the plane and giving first aid treatment despite the handicap of a dislocated shoulder.

Mrs. James M. Cox, jr., of Miami Beach, daughter-in-law of newspaper publisher James M. Cox, 1920 Democratic presidential nominee, escaped without injury and did her part in helping the others.

More seriously injured were Harry E Post of Miami Springs, whose broken leg stayed under water during the long hours: Co-Pilot B. M. Crabtree of Miami, with a broken leg and lacerations about the head; and Stewart Albert Martin of Miami, who was badly hurt.

Those who had either minor injuries or only scratches and bruises were E. W. Hagstater, chief engineer of Axel Wenner Gren's yacht Southern Cross; Mrs.

Escape In Plane's Crash

Pictured here are four of the 13 passengers who escaped death when an Eastern Airlines plane pancaked yesterday in desolate Florida swampland. At top are Dr. and Mrs. George Crile, Cleveland. Dr. Crile is an internationally-famous surgeon. At bottom are Mrs. James M. Cox, jr., daughter-in-law of former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, and Dr. Dan P. Quiring, an associate of Dr. Crile.

Axis Protests Turned Down Flatly By U. S.

Bluntly Refuses Demands for Release Of Ships and Crews Seized In American Ports for Sabotage.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The United States has flatly rejected German and Italian protests against the seizure of 30 merchant vessels in American harbors, the state department announced today, and refused Axis demands for release of the ships and 875 crew members now in custody.

The state department notes—dismissing the allegations made in protests from Dr. Hans Thomsen, the German charge d'affairs, and Prince Colonna, the Italian ambassador—were drafted yesterday, and dispatched during the night.

Secretary Hull, in rejecting these demands, promised to communicate further with the Axis embassies when investigation of other phases of their complaints is completed.

Bluntly, Secretary Hull expressed surprise at the "extreme assertions and demands" and declared the German embassy had failed to support its contentions of violations of international law or a treaty of friendship and commerce between the United States and Germany.

"I know of no principle of international law," Hull informed the German embassy, "which permits the masters or crews of vessels of a country which has

President Orders Construction on Merchant Craft For Britain, Others.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt disclosed today that he has ordered construction of 212 new merchant vessels for Britain and other democracies.

The president declined to say whether production of the new vessels would completely relieve the pressure for the United States to convoy vessels carrying material aid to Great Britain.

The president broke down the current status of the war aid program as follows:

42 GET MILLION

Income Tax Lists Show Group Pays $46,000,000 for '40.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Forty-two persons paid income taxes on individual incomes of $1,000,000 or more last year.

The number of million dollar incomes was eight fewer than in the preceding year, but experts attributed the change to technical factors in connection with reporting of capital gains. In conformity with the law, names were not disclosed by the treasury department.

The 42 paid $46,637,000 federal income tax between them on their 1939 incomes, the treasury reported. The millionaire crop last year was about average for recent years, but far short of the record of 513 who between them paid $191,000,000 in taxes on 1929 incomes.

Youthful President of Stock Exchange Gets Draft Call.

NEW YORK—(AP)—William McChesney Martin, jr., 34-year-old president of the New York stock exchange, was notified today to report April 16 for military training.

Exchange officials had anticipated he would be called in May and recently appointed a committee to find a new president.

Wells Dry, Wheat Threatened, Farmers Here Hope for Rains

Already feeling the effects of the abnormally dry winter, farmers in the Mansfield area saw some hope in the forecast for warm showers today of enough moisture to replenish their dwindling water supplies and put the ground in condition for spring planting.

Rainfall deficiencies of 40 to 60 pc. cent since Jan. 1 have caused widespread concern in all parts of Ohio over early crop prospects and a further decline in the underground water table, threatening municipal and rural wells.

County Agent George B. Ganyard said a number of county farmers are complaining of the lack of rain while wheat has been hard hit by the lack of moisture. Grain fields in most sections of the county are still brown, and the county agent said it will require considerable rainfall to revive the wheat plants and give them a good start for the summer.

Richland county was more fortunate than other sections of the state in receiving heavier snow-

NOT TILL '42

Taft Thinks It Will Take That Long To Get Aid On Way.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—(AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) believes that "not until 1942 will we be shipping goods in large quantities to England.

"The president has the power to do everything that is so close to war that there is no question that it will inevitably lead us into war," said Taft. "It lets him carry on undeclared war in everything but shooting."

DENOUNCES ACT

Confessed Bomber Decries Labor Violence, Given Sentence.

AKRON —(AP)— A confessed bomber of three building projects was sentenced to from two to 14 years in Ohio penitentiary after startling a courtroom crowd with a denunciation of labor violence.

Tilford Floyd, whose brother Robert was killed in one of the blasts, said he had confessed because he "thought this thing ought to be cleaned up." Turning to spectators, he added: "After I realized that this sort of stuff would ruin our country unless it were stopped,' I wanted to do all I could to see that it did not go any further."

Floyd testified he and his brother had been hired by Harry D. Jones, vice president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, who was also convicted, to dynamite the buildings being constructed with CIO labor.

CONFER AGAIN AT HUMPHRYES

Union, Company Reach Wage Compromise; Still at Odds on Contract Clauses.

With more than 400 workers at the Humphryes Manufacturing company plant still idle today because of a labor dispute, company representatives and labor leaders are scheduled to confer again Saturday in an attempt to reach an agreement that will put the employes back to work, it was learned today.

Adam Leitenberger, president of Local 756 of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union, bargaining agent for the Humphryes plant employes, said a compromise had been effected today on a wage scale but the union and company officials had been unable to agree on closed shop and

He also is charged with assault and battery against his wife.

WILL BROADCAST PAPAL BLESSING

Pius XII To Be Heard In Easter Benediction From Rome.

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — The Vatican news service announced today that Pope Pius XII would broadcast a benediction to the world at 1 p. m. Rome time (6 a. m. EST) Easter day, April 13.

The radio benediction will replace the usual blessing "Urbi et Orbi" given from the balcony of St. Peter's following the papal mass, which will not be held this year.

The Pontiff plans to celebrate the Easter mass in his private chapel.

REPORT FLIGHT

Hungarian Regent, Others Believed to Have Left Country.

BELGRADE —(INS)— A report that Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, and other members of the Hungarian government have fled from Budapest for refuge in Yugoslavia reached Belgrade today.

The report said that German motorized troops were moving swiftly through Hungary toward the Yugoslav frontier.

The rumor added that the Hungarian minister of war had committed suicide in emulation of the act of Premier Count Paul Teleki.

Call More Men To Colors for Likely Attack

Cabinet Deliberates Over Policy as Nation Adopts Fighting Slogan, 'Mountain's Worth 10,000 Men;' RAF Again Lashes Brest.

(By Associated Press)

Yugoslavia's general staff rushed fortification of the Vardar river valley—key route to Greece—and called more men to the colors today as a cabinet session to consider the nation's "war or peace" declaration of foreign policy was postponed.

No decision apparently had been reached, but the country was prepared for the worst under the fight-slogan "one mountain is worth 10,000 soldiers."

The cabinet's verdict, it was said, would probably be made tomorrow.

Military experts of the Balkan kingdom—which is roughly the size of Oregon and criss-crossed by lofty ranges—said only about one-fifth of the country was level enough to permit Germany's famed blitzkrieg operations on wheels.

A Yugoslav communique said Belgrade, Zagreb and Ljubljana would be proclaimed "open and undefended cities" in the event of war.

Troops were rushed to key points opposite German concentrations in Austria, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria. Air raid precautions were issued, blackout drills held, and civilians were forbidden to travel so as not to clog communications needed by the military.

A German view was expressed in Berlin that the price of restoring normal relations would be complete repudiation by Yugoslavia of American and British influence.

One Greek newspaper quoted Yugoslav foreign minister, Momtchilo Nincic, as saying the situation was fast developing toward "war—war which others wanted to impose on us."

Possibly significant was the German press announcement that the Nazi occupation of Bulgaria was complete and rising denunciations of alleged Yugoslav atrocities against Germans. Such a press buildup preceded the Nazi attack on Poland in September, 1939. Newspapers also pointed out the Nazi concern over the British army reported massing in Greece.

Italian diplomats apparently without success tried to heal the breach between Yugoslavia and Germany. Axis operations against the Yugoslavs undoubtedly would imperil the Italian troops now heavily engaged with the Greeks in Albania to the west.

In Africa the only gains made by the Italians were accomplished with German support in the retaking of Bengasi, Libya. The British minimized the town's importance, said it was indefensible but that a British withdrawal was made only after heavy losses had been inflicted on the advancing German-Italian units.

Derna, 224 miles to the east, was said by military experts to be a logical base for a British stand.

Meanwhile nearly all of Italian Eritrea was in British hands and other units were marching

ASK SURRENDER OF VITAL PORT

British Demand Italians Give Up Massawa, Admit Fall of Libyan City.

BULLETIN

KHARTOUM, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan —(AP)— British forces advancing southeast of occupied Asmara, capital of Eritrea, have made contact with the main body of retreating Italians and have taken 3,000 prisoners with many more being rounded up, advices from the front said today.

CAIRO—(INS)—Imperial British forces in Eritrea have called on the Italian-held port of Massawa to surrender immediately, authoritative British quarters in Cairo revealed today.

These sources said a reply is expected before nightfall.

They stated a British officer carrying a white flag was sent to Massawa.

He was instructed to point out to authorities there that it was necessary for the British to have control over Massawa in order to feed the civilian population of Asmara.

British units in Eritrea advanced against Massawa after capturing Asmara, the Eritrean capital.

Meanwhile, authoritative British quarters admitted enemy forces operating in Libya are stronger than at first believed. They intimated this was responsible for the British withdrawal from the important seaport of Bengasi, which Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's army captured in February.

Akron Patrolmen Held To Jury On Manslaughter Count.

AKRON, O. —(U.P.)— Patrolmen Richard Coburn and Jacob Yingling today were held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Walter Lamb, Jr., after a beating in the police station, March 17.

Judge Charles M. Kelly reduced the original charges of second degree murder as sworn to in the warrant obtained by Walter Lamb, Sr., father of the dead youth.

SEIZE WAVE SET

Government Orders Confiscation of Fatal Preparation.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Commissioner W. G. Campbell of the food and drug administration today said that nationwide seizures will be made of a preparation used in heatless hair waving, which was responsible last month for the death of Mrs. Agnes Scott Searcy, Griffin, Ga., and Washington society woman.

A quantity of the preparation was seized in Washington yesterday following a finding by the administration that the preparation and the solution responsible in the death of Mrs. Searcy were the same. Other seizures of the preparation, which contains hydrogen sulfide when in solution, will be made during the day.

Investigators applied the hair solution to the skin of a rabbit and the animal died within half an hour.

125 Posts to Send Delegates Here When Legion Head Talks

McVey Post of the American Legion expects reservations from 125 posts by tonight for the banquet here Tuesday night honoring Milo J. Warner of Toledo, national commander of the American Legion, according to James F. Carrigan, banquet chairman.

Invitations have been issued to Legion posts in the Fifth, Sixth and Tenth districts and indications point to a large attendance from this area.

Banquet accommodations for 520 were made at the Mansfield-Leland hotel after ticket sales indicated that places for 300, the original reservation figure, would be inadequate.

The dinner is not limited to Legionnaires and their wives but is open to anyone interested as long as the tickets last. These same tickets will also admit guests to a dance and reception for the national commander at the Legion home following the open meeting at the Madison theater.

Commander Warner is scheduled to speak at the theater at 8:30 p. m. and his talk will be based on observations made while inspecting home defense units on his recent European trip. No admission charge will be made at the theater and the public is invited.

Warner is an attorney in Toledo and at present is a member of the Toledo, Ohio, State and American Bar associations. He has served for five years as a member of the nationally famous Toledo Industrial Peace Board which has settled numerous labor controversies without resort to strikes and lockouts.

SHERIFF'S SALE

167 Lots, 43 Acres To Be Sold on Tax Claim.

The first sheriff's sale of land in recent weeks in Richland county is scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday when 167 lots and 43 acres in the Lincoln Heights area will be offered on a judgment for $6,660 in delinquent taxes.

First involved in a suit brought by Bessie Williams as an administratrix against John Constance and others, the properties will be sold on an order granted County Treasurer John E. Kolb on his cross-petition and answer to the original action.

The 167 lots which adjoin the Lincoln Heights school on two sides were appraised at $8,625, while the 43 acres of land, south of the school, were valued at $2,700.

Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman said the lots will be offered separately. If the total amount bid for them on that basis is more than the amount offered for them together, they must be sold separately.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

"They must be weakening when they call up long-distance to argue contracts," mused Braves Prexy George Satterlee as he studied the holdout situation of Mansfield's Ohio State league club.

"Pat Patterson's mother just called up from Detroit, Mich., to demand that we release her son Schuyler—or—she would go to Judge Branham and see what she could do about getting the boy's release. Since Pat isn't 21 his mother had to sign his papers.

"I told her to see the judge or anyone else, but we would not give the boy his outright release.

"But I also told her we'd be very happy to sell his contract to anybody who might want to buy it.

"Why shouldn't we want to sell it? He won one game and lost nine for us after joining the team late in 1940. (Patterson, for the benefit of those who didn't see him perform, is a right handed flinger.)

"Yep, they must be weakening."

Says Pat: "I'd rather sit and pout,
Just mark me down as a holdout."

* * *

Satterlee professes to be enthused over a new plan of Joe Donnelly, league president, to have the Ohio State clubs train in Florida next spring.

"It seems a cinch we'd break even on our training expenses down south," says Satterlee, "and it costs us important dough to train at home."

Yes, and the club would start the season as total strangers to Mansfield fans. I can't see much advantage to the plan, but "you never can tell 'till you've tried it, and then you are apt to be wrong," as Mr. Kipling said about a more interesting subject.

Two Mansfielders who recently were awarded their varsity "O" at Ohio university were Bill Davidson, senior grappler, and Roy Klopfenstein, junior swimmer.

And a news hand-out from Kent State university says Bill Bolianiz, "popular Mansfielder," is being labeled the outstanding athlete on the Kent campus.

Bill already has 10 varsity awards, and expects to land two more this spring in baseball and track.

Here's another way of putting that old baseball axiom of: "You're a hero today and a bum tomorrow."

From baseball diamonds comes the word:

You cop the cheers, or bag the bird.

Billy Conn Spots Foe 20 Pounds

Battle Gunnar Barlund In Test For Louis.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Billy Conn makes another swing tonight along the trail of other great "little men"—Fitzsimmons, Corbett and the hungry Dempsey of Toledo—by spotting rugged Gunnar Barlund nearly 20 pounds in a 12 round qualifying bout for a shot at Joe Louis next June.

Not long out of the light heavyweight decision, the handsome Pittsburgh Irishman was a 7 to 1 favorite to extend his three year winning streak to 18, although his opponent is by far the best of the natural-sized heavyweights he has trained on for his big moment with Louis.

Twenty pounds is not prohibitive for a heavyweight to give away. Yet both Conn and Manager Ray regard Barlund as the perfect trial-horse for Billy, who hasn't been up against many big men. The Gunnar is just about the size of Louis. He packs a harder wallop than any foe Billy has met. He's a veteran campaigner and crafty with the added incentive of a Louis fight if he can defeat Conn.

If Conn's 180 pounds—possibly less—can stand up with Barlund impressively he believes he's ready for Louis.

"Size," Billy grinned in the dressing room at Trafton's gym, "has nothing to do with it when you get up here."

Both Conn and Ray were evasive on the weight question. Although Billy expected to come in at 180, he may not be much over 175. Barlund will scale just under 200 pounds.

* * *

Drawn by the ballyhoo surrounding Conn and the prospect of an upset, approximately 15,000 fans will pay $30,000 at the stadium gate, according to Promoter Bill Rand.

Shelby Sports Show Profit

Mansfield Game Sets Cage Season Mark.

SHELBY — Athletics at Shelby high school netted a profit of more than $900 during the football and basketball seasons this school year, Supt. C. G. Keck announced today.

The school netted $792 from football, while basketball games only brought in a net profit of $131.

Largest receipts were brought in during the Bucyrus football game. Revenue from this game was $752. Other home games netted the following: Willard, $660; Mount Vernon, $204; Mansfield, $536; and Crestline, played under contract, $50.

In basketball the largest gate receipts came in from the Mansfield game. The home receipts were: Mansfield, $96; Crestline, $76; Ashland, $69; Willard, $85; Bucyrus, $93; Galion, $18; Marion, $79; and Mount Vernon, $75.

Largest expenditures in both sports were made for equipment and officials. In football the equipment cost was $619, as compared with only $157 in basketball. The officials received $209 in basketball and only $143 in football. This is because there are so many more cage games than on the gridiron.

Expenses in football totaled $1,204, while revenue was $2,220. Revenue from basketball totaled $648, compared with expenses of $566.

Storck Shies At Presidency

Wants Powers Outlined Under Commissioner.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Club owners in the National football league at odds over what to do about President Carl Storck, met today to induct Elmer F. Layden as the first commissioner in their 20 year history.

A majority of the league's 10 owners hoped to revise the constitution to grant Layden the final word in any dispute involving the league or any future affiliate.

At the same time, Storck's present one year term as president expires and the election will produce a fight. Despite heavy opposition, the Dayton, O., magnate believes he has a majority behind him.

"I will continue, however, only if we have a definite understanding of the rights and duties of a league president under a commissioner," Storck said.

A vote of six to four is necessary to elect a president. In Layden's case, a change in the constitution is required to create the office of commissioner, and such amendments must have a seven to three majority.

Storck indicated there may not be that much of a majority favoring Layden as an all-powerful commissioner, despite reports that all 10 owners finally had agreed to sign Layden's contract calling for $20,000 a year for five years.

Barons Need One Win for Title

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Barons packed a rabbit's foot and all the other charms they could find today before entraining with the Hershey Bears to continue their American league championship playoffs in the Pennsylvania city Saturday night.

Highly favored after making it two straight last night with a 3 to 1 victory, the Ohioans are determined to wind up the three-out-of-five series o Hershey ice. If necessary, the fourth game will be played it Hershey Tuesday and the fifth here next Thursday.

* * *

The sturdy Pennsylvanians, beaten 4 to 3 in a first-game overtime lacked their usual zip last night and the Barons peppered Goalie Nick Damore with 39 shots.

SELECTION OF 1942 ABC JOUST BOOKED

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(U.P.)—Selection of the 1943 tournament city was the chief business before delegates to the annual executive convention of the American Bowling Congress as they assembled today.

Buffalo and Atlantic City were prominent contenders for the meeting. Columbus, O., already has been selected for the 1942 meeting.

Vandy Shows Winning Stuff

Double No-Hit Johnny Locates Plate Again.

GADSDEN, Ala.—(AP)—It's still early April but there's no April fooling in Johnny Vander Meer's long left arm and Manager Bill McKechnie of the world champion Cincinnati Reds is just about willing to bet on that.

Vandy, the red-cheeked Dutch boy from New Jersey, laid the baseball world by the ears back in 1938 by pitching successive no-hit games against Boston and Brooklyn. He was practically the works of the Reds' rise from last place in 1937 to fourth in 1938.

After that he had trouble. But Vandy never gave up hope.

After yesterday's more or less masterful disposal of the Boston Red Sox at Montgomery by a 5-1 score, Deacon McKechnie said contentedly:

"That boy is going to win a lot of games for us this season. He has more poise and confidence than at any time in the last two years. And his control is improving. He doesn't have a bit of trouble getting his curve over. And it's a honey. Why, he could even waste his fast ball and use his curve as his out pitch."

BROWNS BEAT BEES

FORT SMITH, Ark.—(U.P.)—The St. Louis Browns take on the Boston Bees again today, with Vernon Kennedy scheduled to take the mound for the Brownies. They beat the Bees, 7 to 5, at Texarkana yesterday for a record of seven victories in 13 games.

Propagation of Quail Planned

Measure Considered To Protect Bob White.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Throughout the last two months, the Bob White quail has raised more disturbance in Ohio than Governor Bricker's budget message, the price of winter wheat and the prospect of the Greeks chasing Mussolini into the fourth ward headquarters of the Irish Democrats of Dublin.

* * *

Mention the removal of the quail from the songbird list and immediately you hear the roar of a combination storm, earthquake, five-star final and Buck Rogers in the 25th century.

Now that the Sweeney bill to remove the beloved bird from the songbird list has been defeated, a concentrated movement is on foot in the legislature to appropriate funds for the propagation of the bird—one of the few truly American birds remaining in existence today.

Although nothing definite has been worked out to date, it is fairly certain that Rep. Ralph Siferd, Auglaize county Republican, will introduce a measure—or have one introduced in the senate—to levy funds to protect and propagate the quail which, despite reports to the contrary, is rapidly diminishing in the state.

Wood Hits Sob Stuff Of Scribes

Leader In Master's Says He's Won Title Share.

By HENRY McLEMORE

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(U.P.)—There is a very good chance that this story you are reading now will eventually rank as one of the most novel ever written by a sports writer.

I say this because it deals with Craig Wood, golfer, and yet nowhere in it will there be a reference to his hard luck in finishing second in so many important championships.

Wood, himself, was the one who suggested that I do a story about him without touching the runner-up angle.

"I'd appreciate a story of another sort," Craig said as we talked after his brilliant 66 in the opening round of the Masters' invitation tournament yesterday.

* * *

"I get so sick of reading sobsisterish stuff about myself that I don't know what to do. I sometimes wonder what the golfing public thinks about me. They must picture me as some poor, benighted old cuss, staggering around the courses of the country with a forlorn look and a broken heart. As a matter of fact, I'm a pretty lucky golfer. I have won more than my share of good championships, and you can't kick about finishing second in such things as the U. S. open, the British open, and the Masters."

* * *

On Craig's suggestion I looked into his past performances, and what he said was true—he has won many a good title.

To name a few he has won there are the Los Angeles open, the Metropolitan open (he got that last year with the all-time 72 hole tournament score of 264), the Pasadena open (twice), the San Francisco match play open, the Augusta open, the Pine Valley open, the Australian open, the Hawaiian open, and the New Jersey PGA four times. And there are a dozen others.

Nearly 100 Dogs Expected In Meet

Between 75 and 100 entries are expected for the Richland Fish and Game Association 'coon dog field trials Sunday at the Howard Koogle farm five miles east of Mansfield off Route 30, officials of the event said today.

* * *

The trials will have a purse of $80 and three judges will be Martin Hallabrin of Mansfield, Romey Stahl of Galion and Howard Miller of Crestline.

* * *

Jones Injured, Track Hopes Drop

Mansfield high school lost its track team yesterday.

Elroy "Lightnin'" Jones, winner of three events in tryouts Wednesday for tomorrow's meet at Newark, wrenched his knee in football practice and will be out of action for at least two weeks, according to Track Coach Harry Mehock.

Tyger tracksters were counting on Jones for anything up to 17 points in the 100 yard dash, low hurdles and shot put.

Mansfielders Win 2 Titles

Al Sauer and Frankie Lee Cop Crowns.

Mansfield maulers brought home two championships from the Marion Golden Gloves tournament last night. They couldn't help it. Mansfielders met Mansfielders in each of the bouts that sent titles here.

Al Sauer defeated Adam Miller to cop the light-heavyweight crown and Frankie Lee upset the dope with a verdict over Leonard Waddell for the 118-pound title.

AL SAUER

Frank Truly, Friendly House lightweight, dropped a close decision to Howard Hodges, Marion, in the 135-pound finale.

Baer, Nova Disagree On Dope

Broadway Bookies Quote Slight Odds on Lou.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK—(INS)—There seems to be some slight difference of opinion about that 12-round battle between Max Baer and Lou Nova in Madison Square Garden tonight.

For instance, modest Max says; "I'll flatten that guy sure inside seven, eight rounds."

Lackadaisical Lou says: "He's the easiest guy in the world to lick. He'll be lucky to answer the bell for the sixth round."

Most of the professional fight mob say: "Baer must stop him in three or four heats or Nova will grab the Duke."

Promoter Mike Jacobs says: "I don't know who'll win and I care less. All I know is that it looks like the gate will gross $90,000."

Gallery Gus says: "All I know is I hope it's a good fight and I only wish I'm in a spot sometime where I cop 25 per cent like them luggs is getting."

And the Broadway bookies say: "We'll lay seven or take eight on Nova." (Meaning they will give you 7 to 5 or if you want to lay the odds on Nova they'll take Baer on the short end of 8 to 5).

Nova says further that he'd like to win for the sake of his little girl who will celebrate her second birthday tomorrow. And Max, always the sentimentalist, declares he must win for the sake of his little boy.

But the writer has a strong suspicion that both want to win for the sake of some bigger gates to come, although the 25 per cent of a probable $70,000 net they will get for this one is not to be sneezed at.

* * *

Our guess is that Max must win early or not at all and we are inclined to believe Nova will get the decision. But we wouldn't bet a dime on it.

Tourneys Draw Big Receipts

Ohio High School Jousts Become Big Business.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—High school tournament basketball boomed to big business proportions this year, financial reports submitted today by the office of Commissioner H. R. Townsend disclosed.

The state's 1,156 scholastic teams, 911 in class B and 245 in class A, drew a total "gate" of close to $170,000 in their dash to the state title, with Glenford of Perry county taking the class B laurels, and Martins Ferry copping the "A" crown.

The $170,000 figure is approximate, for no report on the financial "take" at the class A and class B sectional and district meets in Dayton has been filed.

Even without that huge center, which last year contributed $7,409.17 to the fund, the year's tourney receipts of $159,649.88 were ahead of last season's record total of $158,198.02.

This season's county meets at 86 spots drew 256,485 fans as compared with 230,893 last year, and the receipts hopped from $78,887.65 to $82,977.77.

With the Dayton district and sectional reports still out, the 1941 receipts for the semi-final meets were slightly under the 1940 figures, $58,566.11 to $63,293.87, but indications were the Gem city would boost that total to a new high.

The state tourney at Columbus, where 16 supervisors in each class clashed in a three-day meet, drew 34,130 paid customers and $18,106 in cash, as compared with last year's 30,237 fans and receipts of $16,016.50.

The state association took $2,277.70 from the county meets, $11,642.45 from the regional-districts, and $4,094.99 from the state event for a total of $18,015.14. Last year the association profited by $18,084.05, the slight drop this year being caused by higher expenses and bonuses in connection with the state tournament.

Officials, timers, scorers, managers, physicians, police, attendants, printing, trophies and incidentals cost $4,644.79 of the state tourney receipts, the incidentals including a $20 item for "publicity." Team expenses came to $5,394.40, as compared with $5,271.50 in 1940, while this year the bonus paid the teams soared to $5,100 against last year's $4,200.

By districts the county tournaments drew: Central $10,785.27; eastern $10,493.80; northeastern $2,431.65; northwestern $19,860.56; southeastern, $7,198.73; southwestern $22,207.76. Only the class B teams played in those events.

Sectional-district play drew: Central $6,748.26; eastern $8,835.77; northeastern $19,339.22 (minus Euclid Shore class A); northwestern $13,152.92; southeastern $4,835.23; and southwestern $5,654.80 (minus all A and B events at Dayton).

ANDERSON, S. C.—(UP)—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians today faced a problem new to the tribal pilot—the famed explosive qualities of Roy Weatherly's temperament.

Weatherly, who once collected a $500 bonus last year for not being thrown out of a game, gave Peckinpaugh an initial glimpse of the temper yesterday as the Indians buried the New York Giants under a home-run flood, 11 to 4.

Roy opened up on Umpire Larry Goetz after he was called out on strikes in the fifth inning. To the delight of about 150 Ohio soldiers who were in the crowd, Weatherly blistered the atmosphere all the way back to the bench.

He topped it off with a final blast as he sat down—just too much for Goetz to stand and he ejected Weatherly from the park.

"I've often heard about Weatherly's temper and tongue," said Peckinpaugh. "It was sort of interesting to see it unload."

"Of course he's wrong about it. I like a lot of spirit and the umpire can be wrong, but Weatherly will have to eliminate some of his more descriptive words."

Yesterday's tilt was to have been a duel between Bob Feller and Carl Hubbell, but both made poor exhibitions. Feller was rapped for seven hits in six innings. Gee Walker, Hal Trosky and Ken Keltner walloped home runs for the Indians.

* * *

Jim Bagby and Bob Bowman were scheduled to pitch today as the Tribe and Giants met in another exhibition game.

THEATERS

Modern Eve.

Hitting a new high in hilarity Barbara Stanwyck romps her way through "The Lady Eve," opening Saturday at the Ohio, with Henry Fonda as the object of her intentions. The story presents Fonda as the scion of a wealthy family who falls in the hands of a gang of cardsharps headed by Miss Stanwyck. He falls in love with her but the bubble bursts when he realizes her real identity. Barbara proves a match for him by posing as a titled Britisher with the aid of Eric Blore, the screen's perfect player of butler roles. The cast includes Charles Coburn, Eugene Pallette, William Demarest and Luis Alberni.

Murder Mysteries.

Murder mysteries, two of them, will hold forth at the Madison beginning Saturday. In "The Mad Doctor," starring Basil Rathbone the sinister villiany of a mad psychiatrist played by Rathbone is combined with the suicide complex of a lovely girl played by Ellen Drew and the appeal of a shrewd newspaper reporter enacted by John Howard. Miss Drew is also the heroine of "The Monster and the Girl," which tells the story of an executed man whose brain is transferred to the skull of a gorilla by a well-meaning scientist. Paul Lucas, Phillip Terry and Onslow Stevens are cast.

Fields Ad Libs.

W. C. Fields' ad lib remarks during the filming of "The Bank Dick," now playing at the Ritz were funny to the people on the set but a pain to the script girl. The star's unpremediated bits of comedy enliven the picture as he portrays the kind of role he has always longed to enact, that of a bank detective. Una Merkel plays his daughter and the cast includes Franklin Pangborn, Jessie Ralph and Cora Witherspoon. Exciting story of Texas cattle rustlers is "Pals of the Silver Sage," with Tex Ritter, the singing cowboy, is showing as the co-attraction.

Strange Adventure.

Studded with such excellent players are Rit Hayworth, Thomas Mitchell and John Qualen, "Angels Over Broadway," starring Douglas Fairbanks, jr., is now playing at the Park. Written by Ben Hecht and produced by author and star the picture presents a foursome in a strange and wonderful adventure. They include Miss Hayworth as a cafe entertainer, Fairbanks as a Broadway wise guy, Mitchell as a dramatist and Qualen as an embezzler. George Anthiel's music highlights the picture. George O'Brien in "Whispering Smith Speaks," is the second feature.

Thwarts Romance.

Laughs and heart throbs are combined as a small town boy falls in love with an entertainer in "Ladies Must Live," starring Wayne Morris and Rosemary Lane at the Majestic. DeWolf Hopper is Rosemary's ex-sweetheart and Roscoe Karns, the friend of Morris, who almost puts the skids under the romance because he believes all night club singers are gold-diggers. Lee Patrick is in the cast and the lovely Lane's role gives opportunity for several new songs. Johnny Mack Brown in "Law and Order," is picture No. 2.

STOCKS WEAKEN BUT MANAGE TO EXTEND RALLY

Labor Disputes Provide Main Handicap But Outlook on War Improves.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Leading stocks today lost some of their vigor of the previous session but most managed to extend the market rally by fractions to around a point.

Attracting further early support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, and Pennsylvania.

Buying arguments, brokers said, were found in a little more "inflation thinking" a slightly better war outlook abroad and signs that business and industry are out to make new records as defense funds spread to virtually all lines. Labor disputes, it was added, still provided the main speculative handicap.

Margaret Allen of Miami Beach; George Shaw of Memphis; Bertram Strook, address unknown; Mrs. Margaret Graham of New York; E. V. Caulfield of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Alimone Green of Raleigh, N. C.

The plane, en route to New York, left West Paul Beach at 8:16 a. m. yesterday with Daytona Beach the next scheduled stop.

When the ship failed to reach Daytona Beach on time an intensive search was started, which ended near dusk last night with the sighting of the wreckage by EAL Pilot Don Johnston.

The force of the landing tore off both motors and the wheels. The wheels lay 40 feet from the fuselage, the motors somewhat closer.

Mrs. Crile said trouble started soon after the ship left West Palm Beach.

"We ran into the most terrible storm I have ever seen and I have flown tens of thousands of miles," she related. "The ship was tossed around and we didn't know where we were for awhile. It was dark.

"Conduct of the crew was superb.

"The water poured into the open windows and we sat in it up to our hips all day long."

Mrs. Crile said O'Brien, knocked unconscious, later told her that he tried to turn back but the ailerons broke and he could not bring the ship around.

CHAPTER XVII

"What is it, Paul?" Joan asked as they stared at Karl Miller and the girl at his side.

"Let's get out of here," Paul said grimly, "I don't want them to see us."

Hurriedly they collected their wraps and left the hotel. "Sorry to break up your evening this way," Paul told her and Joan could see that he was troubled. She had never seen Paul look quite so serious.

"Can't you tell me what it is?" she begged.

"I'd rather not, Joan, and I have another favor to ask. Would you mind if I took you home? I want to trail Karl and find out where that girl lives."

"Of course! But I'll go home in a taxi," Joan said practically. "They might leave any minute."

He pressed her hand. "You're a grand sport!"

"Good luck," Joan called as she climbed in to a taxi which bore her swiftly home. What was wrong with Paul? What was his connection with this lovely girl? Karl had been looking at her with the same tenderness that he had once used with Joan. How easy it must be for him to turn on and off this false charm, which seemed so sincere and instead was so deadly. It had wrung her heart to see the way this other girl looked at Karl. Her eyes so full of enchantment. Yet Joan was not jealous. Pity and alarm were her only emotions.

Even so she slept well that night. She felt that she had turned a new page in her life. This year would find her a wiser girl. She would be better able to cope with life, to face it with new courage and understanding.

On New Year's day Paul did not come to see her and Joan was surprised. She was anxious to know the story of Karl's companion, and was worried for fear some accident had befallen Paul. She knew now that Karl Miller would stop at nothing.

But when Monday came Paul Sherman did not call for her as usual. Instead Karl himself came to her to the club. Joan dared not inquire about Paul but she felt uneasy. Karl did not offer any explanation. He seemed in good spirits.

Joan worked hard that afternoon. In vain she tried to read some hidden meaning into the letters that Karl dictated, but though some of them did not make sense to her, she could find nothing incriminating. Karl must be using a code but Joan had saved copies of letters and Paul had not, as yet, been able to decipher them.

"By the way," Karl told her, "I am hiring a new singer for the band Draw up a contract. She will be in later"

Even then Joan was not prepared for the sight of the same slim, lovely girl who had been Karl's dancing companion.

She came in the door a little shyly, but Joan recognized the happy look in her eyes. Joan had once looked that way. Her heart went out to this girl. She couldn't be a day over 17.

"Won't you sit down," Joan asked pleasantly. "Mr. Miller will be back in a few minutes."

The girl sat down primly and looked around with admiration. She was dressed in a brown suit and sports hat. Her brown hair hung softly to her shoulders. Her brown eyes were wide and childlike.

"Mr. Miller tells me that you are going to sing here."

"Yes. My name is Pat Hines."

Joan fancied that she hesitated as she spoke her name. "Do you live here?" she asked.

Pat dropped her eyes. "I came from Los Angeles" she explained briefly, adding with enthusiasm, "I'm so grateful to Mr. Miller. He's been wonderful to me. I don't know how I would ever have gotten a job. It was really just luck. You see I noticed his advertisement in the paper for a singer. And I applied and Mr. Miller said I was just what he was looking for."

Joan's green eyes narrowed. So Karl was playing his little game again! Did he want Pat to replace her in his affections, and incidentally become a part of his vicious business? Joan, looking at Pat's happy face, wondered that only a few months age she herself had been fool enough to fall into Karl's trap.

"How old are you?" Joan asked thoughtfully.

For the second time the girl hesitated. "Nineteen."

Joan sighed, sure that she was lying. If only three were something she could do or say to warn this girl. But what? She dared not risk Karl's disapproval now. Too much was at stake. Paul and Sybil! She could not take the chance. She turned back to her typing while Pat sat waiting with an enraptured expression on her face.

Those few minutes did more to cure Joan of her former infatuation for Karl than anything else. Seeing Pat, as she herself had been—seeing Karl playing the same game again—gave her a clearer picture of the situation.

"I'm cured!" Joan thought triumphantly, and she typed away furiously, taking out her resentment on the typewriter.

Karl came in almost immediately, smiling as he saw Pat waiting for him. "The orchestra leader tells me your audition was very satisfactory," he said, taking her hand.

Pat left the office with Karl, clinging to his arm, radiant-eyed.

"And to think," Joan said savagely to herself, "that I looked like that once!"

That evening she had made an appointment at Mrs. Murdock's beauty salon, according to Paul's instructions, during the two hours she had off for dinner. If she hurried she could make it.

She found the Ritz Beauty Salon an elaborate establishment and an efficient operator arranged her hair with capable fingers. As she sat under the drier she glanced around curiously, but could see nothing unusual. To all appearance this was no different from any other beauty shop of its kind.

When he hair was dry, Joan inquired the way to Mrs. Murdock's private office. "I'd like to speak to her a moment," she explained to the girl at the desk.

Mrs. Murdock did not seem pleased at Joan's visit. She regarded the girl through narrowed eyes, saying, "This is quite a surprise."

toward Addis Ababa from virtually all sides.

On the western front, the RAF attacked the Nazi-occupied French port of Brest, where the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst were said to have been berthed at the beginning of the week, while German warplanes raided a town in west England, presumably Bristol, for four hours and gave London two bombless alerts.

Hitler's high command declared Nazi U-boats had sunk 88,616 tons of ships in the North Atlantic—mostly in attacks on an England-bound convoy.

London newspapers greeted the news of the British withdrawal from Bengasi as an "unwelcome shock" but not a tragedy, and it was declared that the Libyan desert stronghold was "indefensible from a military viewpoint."

Germans Declare British In Retreat

BERLIN —(INS)— British troops are in "precipitate retreat north of Bengasi in Libya," the German supreme command asserted today.

German and Italian troops have taken Agedabia and Zuetina and continue pursuit of British forces who evacuated Bengasi, a communique said.

"The number of prisoners taken and the number of armored and unarmored motor vehicles taken is considerable," said Berlin. "Our losses were extraordinary small."

Turkey Calls Up Thousands More

ISTANBUL —(U.P.)— Turkey today called thousands of new troops to the colors and speeded military preparations despite continued belief that she will adhere to defensive strategy in the explosive Balkan crisis.

Men of the classes of 1910 and 1911 streamed out of Istanbul to join their military units. The classes number about 350,000 men of whom, it was estimated, possibly 150,000 are eligible and fit for immediate duty.

Elaborate anti-aircraft exercises were ordered for the Istanbul area during the next two weeks. There have been repeated tests of anti-aircraft defenses in this area in the past two months.

The national assembly was expected to vote tomorrow to raise the age limit for military duty from 45 years to 60 years, allowing many thousands of older reservists to be brought up to reinforce the army.

Yugoslavs Reported Blasting Bridges

BUDAPEST —(INS)— Yugoslavian troops today were reported blasting bridges across the Morava and Danube rivers to impede a possible German onslaught.

The Yugoslavian legation in Bucharest has instructed Yugoslavians to leave Rumania at once.

Main forces of the Yugoslavian army were said to be concentrated around Nis in Serbia. Destruction of bridges indicated that the Yugoslavs intended to make their major stand along the Morava river, on which Nis is located. This means that a wide stretch west of the Rumanian and Hungarian borders might be yielded to the Germans.

Place Imposing Guard Around U. S. Embassy

ROME — (INS) — An imposing protective military guard was posted at the American embassy and consulate in Rome today to prevent possible demonstrations.

The cordon of troops—largest force of soldiers assigned to a foreign diplomatic mission since Italy entered the European war—was stationed at the embassy last night after the American government demanded that Italy recall its naval attache in Washington, Admiral Alberto Lais.

Officials in Rome declined to comment on the demand for recall of Admiral Dais, pending "more precise information."

In all streets within several hundred yards of the United States embassy, hundreds of Italian soldiers carrying rifles and bayonets were stationed in groups of 20 to 50.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at Bellville Lutheran church. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

Cite Danger of Italian Massacre

LONDON —(U.P.)— British military authorities said today that natives in Italian East Africa, including Eritrea and Ethiopia, were deserting in increasing numbers from the Italian army and that the possibility of a massacre of Italians was becoming even more serious.

Informants said British empire forces driving toward Massawa, on the Red Sea, from Asmara, capital of Eritrea, had now reached a point where two highways led to the port.

Attributing the loss of Bengasi partly to the withdrawal of substantial forces from Libya for the East African front, military authorities said that strategic considerations in East Africa might even necessitate further withdrawals.

The entire situation in East Africa was described as unhappy for the Italians.

The well informed Press Association said the middle eastern command was aware that a considerable force of Germans armored units was operating in the Bengasi area but that the general staff was confident of coping with the situation.

Britons took consolation in the belief that the evacuation of Bengasi was part of a large strategic picture which included not only East Africa but Greece and Yugoslavia.

It disclosed also that before the withdrawal, the great store of Italian war materials captured there had been destroyed.

terial, including the 212 new ships and shipyards, plus funds for repair of damaged merchant vessels.

2. $500,000,000 in old material has been released from army and navy stocks for transfer abroad. The valuation placed on this material, he said, might be called an "in between" figure—a median between the original production cost and the scrap value.

3. $1,500,000,000 of allocations are under study for purchase of more weapons and foods for transfer abroad. He emphasized this allocation has not been made.

The president said transfers of old material, limited by congress to an overall total of $1,300,000,000, are not going to be itemized. But, he added, the transfers generally will be similar to the transaction in which a large quantity of 75 millimeter guns were ordered sent to Greece while he was visiting Fort Bragg, N. C., earlier this week.

The president would not state where the new shipyards might be constructed, except to say that unfortunately they cannot be located on the Great Lakes, and that none will be established in Maine.

More knitting needles need to fly on children's sweaters, little boys' suits, ladies' cardigans and men's socks and sweaters in order to fill next Red Cross overseas quota, due May 30, Mrs. Gertrude B. English, executive Red Cross secretary, said today.

New shipments of supplies have brought yarn for these articles and the production center at 43 West Fourth street provides ample space for added workers, according to the secretary.

An average of 40 women are working daily on surgical dressings and due to the increased facilities of the workshop opened this week a large number of workers can be accommodated.

Richland county chapter cooperated yesterday with the American Radio Relay League, a nation-wide organization of amateur radio operators in a test drill held throughout the country as a preparedness measure against the day when disaster or other emergency may make it necessary to depend upon amateur communication.

The message of the local chapter, giving the number of delegates expecting to attend the national Red Cross convention was sent to the emergency coordinator for this area, John A. Kieser of Lakewood O. who will transmit it to Washington over his station W8AVH.

The strike affected 85,000 persons employed at the plant.

The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company plant at West Allis, Wis., remained closed by a strike, now in its eleventh week. Defense orders aggregating $45,000,000 are being held up, and Secretary of War Stimson indicated in Washington yesterday that the government might be studying the possibility of taking over and operating the factory.

The national defense mediation board has summoned striking CIO union representatives and company officials to Washington for a conference tomorrow. The strikers ask union security and wage increases.

In Washington, Rep. McCormack (Mass.), house Democratic leader, predicted President Roosevelt shortly would "bear down—in a constitutional way" on the defense strike situation.

At Oakland, Calif., a federal conciliator announced that an agreement had been reached for settlement of a 16-day CIO strike at four General Motors plants, involving 2,250 men. Settlement terms were not disclosed.

Fifty CIO cranemen who had walked out at the Bethlehem Steel company plant at Pottstown, Pa., agreed to go back to work today pending an answer from the company concerning demands for wage increases.

At South Plainfield, N. J., AFL electrical workers voted to return to the Cornell Dubilier plant after accepting an agreement reached at a conference with the national defense mediation board. They got wage increases.

"no-strike" clauses on the proposed contract.

"Disagreement over the closed shop which the union is asking and a "no-strike" clause that the company wants included in the contract are the only things that are keeping us from going to work," Leitenberger said today.

He added that the union "hopes to reach an agreement so we can go back to work by Monday. But if we can't agree, we don't know how long it will be."

Company officials, who have been silent on the disagreement since the union declared a "work stoppage" Tuesday night, could not be reached for comment today.

Pickets were still posted at the plant entrances today, but there were no reports of any trouble at the plant. Salaried workers and foremen continued to enter and leave the plant as they chose.

Leitenberger said he and other union representatives conferred most of yesterday with company officials, finally agreeing on a wage proposal that was satisfactory to both. Details of the pay changes incorporated in the proposed contract were not revealed.

DRUG CHAIN HAS CELEBRATION

Muir Store Here Takes Part In Anniversary.

In connection with the celebration of the 19th anniversary of the Muir drug store chain in the middle west, the Mansfield store, managed by Raymond E. Bonnoront, is having a special sales program. Mr. Bonnoront has been manager of the local store for three years. The chain has maintained a store in Mansfield for ten years.

The chain was formed by Boyce K. and Bruce K. Muir on April 15, 1922. The brothers opened their first store in Lorain. Special sales technique and lower cost of operation enabled the brothers to open another store in Elyria in less than a year's time.

From that point on, the chain expanded rapidly until at present it has 27 stores in 26 cities of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

U. S. REJECTS AXIS PROTESTS

sought refuge in or entered the ports of another country, to commit acts of destruction in disregard of local law and of the hospitality which they have been permitted to enjoy."

The American notes also were understood to have cited precedents in international and domestic law for the course pursued. This was in answer to the assertions of the two Axis powers that there was no justification in law or in treaties for the United States action.

The flat rejection of all Rome-Berlin demands, in the opinion of some diplomatic sources, may have the effect of bringing relations with the Axis still closer to the breaking point. It was noted that the formal replies were completed not long after the United States asked for the immediate recall of Italy's naval attache here, because of alleged connection with the widespread ship sabotage.

Although the refusal to surrender the seized ships clarified their immediate status to some extent, it left unanswered the question of their ultimate disposition.

A maritime commission spokesman, asking not to be quoted by name, told reporters it was probable that "we will merely hold the ships for 30 days or so and then resurvey the situation to determine what can be done with them."

In this connection, Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) suggested today that the government take title to the 69 German, Italian and Danish ships seized last week-end, paying a "fair price."

Pepper, a member of the foreign relations committee, told reporters that the vessels either should be transferred directly to Britain or placed in the American merchant marine so that an equal number of ships could be released to the British.

In addition, Pepper declared, the United States should take over the French ships here, including the giant passenger liner "Normandie," now tied up at New York.

Democratic Leader Barkley of the senate said he did not believe a decision on what to do with the vessels "has been reached in any responsible quarter."

The first intimation any hemisphere nation planned to take ownership of seized Axis shipping came from Mexico City. A responsible foreign office official there said last night that it had practically been decided to expropriate the 12 Italian and German vessels now in custody, and, by way of compensation, to cancel pre-war Axis indebtedness of about $12,000,000 for petroleum purchases.

Private Ralph Hyland of Columbus, Ohio, was supposed to share a tent with the first sergeant. But in the pre-dawn gloom a guard chanced upon a shivering form swathed in blankets on the ground near a fire. He prodded the quaking bundle and inquired:

"Hey, why aren't you sleeping in a tent?"

Private Hyland's head emerged and he responded:

"Buddy, you never heard the first sergeant snore."

fall during the winter, but it was pointed out that several inches of snow are needed to equal one inch of rain and the heaviest fall of snow the county had last winter was about four inches.

Rain was forecast for the Richland county area tonight and Saturday with lower temperatures due Saturday. A reading of 60 degrees, highest of the year, was reported here yesterday.

Hamilton county (Cincinnati) has received only 3.83 inches of rain since Jan. 1 as compared to the normal 10.63 inches. In Columbus, the fall for the three-month period was 3.3 inches as against a normal 9.2 inches.

Akron reported a drop of more than 50 per cent in rainfall during the period and a water table so low that wells are threatened.

Predicting a wave of drying wells, State Geologist Wilbur Stout said "the water table curve will keep on going down. We are just beginning to feel fully the drought of last July and August. A lot of towns already are suffering from lack of water, and this condition will become worse."

LIBRARY GIVEN BOOK 'THE GRACE OF GUADALUPE'

Timely Topics Club Presents Volume to Library; It's on New Book List.

Catholic Book of the Month club choice for March, "The Grace of Guadalupe," by Frances Parkinson Keyes, has been presented to the Mansfield Public library by the Timely Topics club.

Mrs. Keyes spent last summer in Mexico and the result is this reverent and moving presentation of an ancient and beautiful legend of four centuries duration.

The story she tells is that of the Virgin of Guadalupe and the place held by the latter in the worship of the people of the central and southern parts of this hemisphere.

The following recent books of fiction have just been added to the John Baxter Black collection.

Ellen Glasgow's novel, IN THIS OUR LIFE, set in a Virginia Tidewater city, ends a few days before the outbreak of war in Europe. The members of the Timberlake family—mother, father, and two daughters—are the central figures of an intensely dramatic story, dramatic not simply for its happenings, but for the people who cause them, and who make the action precipitate the crowding events as the reader sees unfolding before him an analysis of the modern mind and temper.

SUMMER 1914 by Martin du Gard is a gigantic continuation of the Thibault which follows the fortunes of the Thibault sons with Jacques living and dying a Socialist, and Antoine, a doctor, dying from lung diesase contracted in the war. Important contributions of the book are a painstakingly detailed account of the Socialist collapse and an unusually complete picture of Paris just before the first World war.

The following new fiction book has just been added to the library:

PRESENTING MOONSHINE is a particularly apt title for these weird, macabre, and sophisticated tales by John Collier. Some are horror stories with plots sketched in lightly, others are adult fairy tales, and all are preposterous.

OTHER FICTION: DRINK TO YESTERDAY by Coles; BISHOP'S CRIME by Bailey; MURDER OUT OF TURN by Lockridge; UNEXPECTED UNCLE by Hatch; DEATH JOINS THE WOMAN'S CLUB by Saxby.

CRUSADER IN CRINOLINE by Forrest Wilson is the fascinating story of a remarkable woman—the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin"—of the events that led up to the writing of this great classic—and of its world-shaking effects. It is also a splendid portrait of the 19th century for it not only recreates the life of a passionate, intelligent and indomitable woman, but presents a vigorous and entertaining picture of America at one of its most critical moments.

HAWAII: RESTLESS RAMPART by Joseph Barber, jr., is a clear and balanced account of our most important overseas asset: How important to our hemisphere defense is Hawaii? How are we defending it? Who are the big five? How can the Islands be safe when the Japanese represent the largest racial population? Does Hawaii want statehood and why? All these questions are analyzed—thoughtfully and objectively.

I LIVE ON AIR is the inside story of radio news reporting and broadcasting by A. A. Schechter, director of news and special events for NBC with Edward Anthony. He not only tells just how it is all done, but gives an entertaining account of the chances and mischances that mark the operation of the most modern news-spreading machine in the world, as well as the stories behind the scenes of famous catastrophes. A 64-page picture section is included.

OTHER NON-FICTION: MINE EYES HAVE SEEN by Withington; PREACHING IN THESE TIMES by Buttrick and other; LOOK BEFORE YOU COOK by Brown; GLASS BLOWER by Maxtone-Graham; THEY'LL NEVER QUIT by Klemmer; FINLAND FOREVER by Strode; GARDEN CLUBS AND SPADES by McKinney; ALL GAUL IS DIVIDED; TURKEY by Lengyel; LEARNING TO LIVE by Tyler and others; SELLING by Maule.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Two pioneer stories full of adventure and bravery will now be found in the display of reviewed books in the children's room of Mansfield Public library. In the first one a family goes west in a covered wagon from Missouri to Oregon. In the other a cattle farmer from Ohio drives a herd of cattle to market in Baltimore.

THE VALIANT SEVEN by Netta Sheldon Phelps—When the Sager family started West everything was planned for their greatest comfort and for a successful journey, but misfortune followed close behind. One of the seven children suffered a serious accident and twice fever took two victims from the family circle. Kindly people came to the aid of the orphaned children and helped them to the Whitman mission where for a time they were safe and happy.

DROVERS EAST by Pitt Fitzgerald—Before there were cities or railroads in southern Ohio the farmers had no close market for their products. Andy O'Farrell's father believed it was a good plan to raise cattle on the grain and to drive them directly over the mountains to Baltimore. The story of one such trip is told in this exciting and mysterious book.

PAY BILLIONS

HARTFORD, Conn.—(U.P.)—More than three and a half billions of dollars were paid to the public last year by American insurance companies.

Life insurance payments amounted to more than $2,700,000,000, which is approximately 75 per cent of the total $3,610,000,000. It is estimated that automobiles are responsible for at least 20 per cent of all payments under all forms of insurance, both personal and property.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1941.

"Rome was not built in a day"—but, for that matter, neither was London.

A government report shows that Indians are increasing rapidly—possibly getting ready to take back what's left.

Detroit newspapers are having typographical difficulties with the words "inducted" and "indicted" in news mention of public servants.

State's Biggest Budget Under Fire

EVIDENCE continues to pile up in support of the contention of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce that state taxes can be reduced NOW, without hampering any essential functions of state government.

In submitting the largest budget in the history of Ohio, Governor Bricker made estimates of anticipated revenues which now appear to be far short of probable income, notably in his forecast of $51,500,000 from retail sales tax, which seems more likely to pass the sixty million mark this year.

Other taxes have also shown substantial increases during the first 12 weeks of this year and a charge that the Bricker intention is to build up a huge surplus, for political effect in advance of next year's campaign, gains weight through study of the budget issue.

While there was much criticism of the extravagance of the Davey administration, it is noted that the Bricker budget exceeds the Davey budget for the 1937-38 biennium by $46,895,000, and the 1939-40 Bricker budget by $19,482,000, in the general revenue fund alone.

It is also a matter of concern that this budget proposes the largest building program in the state's history in a period of high construction costs and at a time when there is urgent need for the greatest possible defense production.

In the face of tremendously increasing federal taxes, to meet defense costs, and with taxpayers already overburdened by inescapable taxes of all kinds, sensible procedure on the part of the state administration and legislature would seem to be to seek ways to trim the budget, instead of placing it at a record high, and to at least temporarily forego the political expediency involved in accumulating an unnecessarily large surplus—at the expense of taxpayers.

Two Cities Point the Way

TWO CAPITAL CITIES in the world today deserve attention ahead of all others. Both are in ruins. Both are ancient. Both are great and very much alive. They are London and Chungking, bulwarks of civilization for the East and West.

Both have withstood fire and terror and death. Both remain serene and confident of victory over the destroyers of Europe and Asia.

They are winning, and will continue to win. London in her underground shelters and Chungking in her mountain caves can endure the unendurable and accomplish the impossible. Through their trial and courage Europe and Asia may survive and lead the way to a finer and more civilized world.

Theirs is "the wave of the future," a future better than the past, for themselves and for right-minded, well-wishing, well-doing people, singly and in cities and in nations throughout this afflicted world.

Dental Defects Among Selectees

FROM the start of physical examinations for selective service it has been evident that tooth-neglect has been a too-common trait among young men of trainee age.

Gathering information from over the country, the war department reports that faulty teeth, more than any other one physical defect, cause rejection of selective service registrants. A survey has shown that, while men now being called for military training are generally healthier than those examined for World war service in 1917, three times as many, proportionately, are rejected on account of bad teeth.

As the age range of 21 to 35 places all registrants in the period of modern dental care, with school instruction in oral hygiene, and even the pre-natal attention which was lacking in earlier times, it is difficult to account for such prevalence of tooth defects—except by assuming neglect or financial considerations.

While the cost of dental service covers such a wide range as to make the upper brackets seem prohibitive to persons in moderate circumstances, average charges for such professional service can ordinarily be met without sacrifice of other essentials—especially since a time-payment plan is being adopted by a number of dentists to encourage regular care of teeth by persons with small incomes.

Progress in dentistry, and in public education on this subject, has been so great during the past several decades, that it is disturbing to learn that so many American young men, and presumably young women also, classify as "dental cripples."

Relief Is Unending Problem

WITH a vast increase in national employment, until the total is higher than it was in 1929, some people are surprised to find that the problem of unemployment relief is not ended. One large city, which had 105,000 families receiving public aid in 1938, still has 40,000 requiring such help.

Several reasons are given. One is that we have a larger population than we had a dozen years ago. Another is that we have developed more sensitive standards about responsibility for the needy. Another, that we have passed on to our local, state and national governments a lot of responsibility that used to be left for private benevolence. Still another, that we keep more complete statistics now about such things. And finally, there has been a growing tendency for the weaker members of society to demand more relief than they used to.

Some authorities expect that present public aid will continue to shrink, in this industrial boom period, until it is only about half of what it is today. That may be the irreducible minimum, about one-fifth of what it was at the peak. But it will rise again when the war boom ends—how far, nobody can tell.

Some foreigners have difficulty with the English language—and no wonder when Ed Wynn tells of his Long Island home, from which he can "hear the sea and see the Sound."

Gypsies in occupied France have been told to settle down and stay in one place—in which event they'd no longer be gypsies.

It's Not Such Fun

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I HAVE been receiving many letters telling me that "all this war talk is propaganda—not the truth."

These letters do not anger me . . . but they distress me. I realize how easy it is to think such things when you're sitting in an Iowa ranch kitchen of a cosy evening . . . or when you're cussing over your annual income tax on Millionaire's Row. But if you could know even the least truth that comes to a news-writer's ears, you would not say them; you would not believe them. And you'd call yourself a contemptible cad if you did.

We newspaper people receive letters from our own friends in the news services who are dodging death on the front line. These letters are from men and women who have been trained, under the strictest discipline, to tell the truth in its stark essentials. They write, and literally, under fire. One does not bother to polish phrases with death squatting on the window sill. Such letters speak plainer than tons of propaganda.

I'm thinking particularly of some letters that have been coming through from someone I know—Frank C. Betts, Blackfriars House, London. Since Frank is working on a regular assignment, he could only take reserve duty at first . . . training with the home guards . . . fighting fires.

They were gay letters, those first ones. Laughing at his own incompetence . . . plainly showing that he considered "Jerry" just a Regular Guy who'd gone a bit off his beezer. But they are not gay letters, now. They are grim, with terrible desolation. For "home duty" now, is a nightmare through which few sensitive men can live and keep their sanity. So you think it's all "just propaganda?" Then read this:

"Last night," Frank writes, "we got the bombs in New Bridge Street amongst other spots in London. It was a very bad raid, and the row was terrific. Three buildings and most of the glass from others now strew the road outside the office and it is unpleasant walking. To see the wreckage as you walk to the office is terrible. It makes me so bloody mad and saddened at the futility of it all. They will never make the slightest difference to us by knocking down offices and houses.

"There was many fires, some of which were still smoking as I walked along, and there must have been hundreds of incendiaries. Everyone puts them out, but they burn nasty spots into roadways and sidewalks. Jerry is not trying to hit a thing, except London, and I don't really see how he can miss that. Only it is not such fun when you have to help poor old people out, or just sit around, knowing a dozen are buried. You sit around only to wait for the Rescue Squads who know their jobs; we don't know the job and, if we started things, we might easily cause a collapse that would kill people whom the Squads would know how to rescue.

"The terrific results from the big bombs are staggering. One that dropped near home the other night blew four houses (not small ones) to smithereens, and killed everyone there. It also smashed a further dozen houses on either side, taking off roofs, collapsing walls, causing fires. In another apartment block near us, the whole place collapsed but the elevator shaft was thrown high in the air, and came down right on top of all the other debris absolutely intact. It was a nine-floor building, and that is quite a shaft of steel to be thrown about as if it had been a baseball.

"The other afternoon as I walked along Regent Street and Piccadilly, I met men in uniform of many nations. And I could not but think what a grand thing it is to see these fellows. Many of them can't speak a word of English and have never seen England before, but here they are anxious to fight in this great Cause. There were tough-looking Poles and Czechs; almost gay Free French officers with long cloaks and hoods; Norwegian sailors, Dutch naval officers, Belgian flying men. There were Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders; men from China and India, from Ceylon and Burma. I did not see a pilot from the Eagle Squadron of Americans, but there must have been one in London that day.

"All these fellows are here to fight. Don't you think it is something really grand, that these men should leave their homes and families and come here to fight with us? I do.

Those paragraphs are filled with the most intense horror, despair and determination the human spirit has been called upon to bear. Horror you can hardly bear if you read between the lines. Yet through it all burns a nobility and appreciation of nobility which are like the vision of God above the reeking flames.

I am not for war. I despise it and the motives which inspire it. I would protest with my last strength against American boys entering this war.

AND YET I ENVY THE SPIRIT WHICH COULD WRITE THOSE WORDS AND BE WILLING TO SEE THEM THROUGH! WE HAD SUCH A SPIRIT ONCE—IN AMERICA AND WE DIDN'T CALL IT "PROPAGANDA."

This Is Ohio

GEAUGA county is widely noted as being especially adapted to the growth of the sugar maple and is productive of a large supply. Annually at Chardon, the county seat, there's a maple festival to commemorate the season's opening. This year it will be held March 27-30, inclusive.

Groves varying from 300 to 3,000 trees are found throughout the county, a somewhat hilly section of the state. The greatest care and cleanliness is required to make the highest grade of sugar and syrup, and the fragrant maple flavor is only preserved by converting the sap into sugar and syrup as fast as possible.

During the 1940 season, 1,144,000 Ohio trees yielded 332,000 gallons of maple syrup and 11,000 pounds of maple sugar. Ohio is exceeded only by Vermont and New York in the value of maple syrup produced.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Henry Hudson, an English navigator in the service of Dutch merchants, sailed from Amsterdam Holland, on April 4, 1609, on the ship "Half Moon" with a crew of twenty men seeking a water passage to the Western Ocean.

Timely Editorial

Defense Accidents.

A serious question is raised by the National Safety Council report that nearly one-half of America's traffic deaths so far this year are attributable to defense activities. These fatalities for January were 11 per cent higher than a year ago, and in February they were 22 per cent higher.

Tracing the cause, the council finds that military vehicles, military personnel driving private cars and military men afoot figured in 320 of the increased number of deaths in the first two months of 1941.

It was to have been expected, perhaps, that the traffic toll would rise as our military forces expanded and became more active on the highways, yet that does not lessen the seriousness of the situation. It is similar to what invariably has happened in the past when industry leaped upward and vast numbers of workers went back to employment. In all such eras the rate of industrial accidents has increased materially.—Ohio State Journal.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Conditions That Defeated France Now Prevalent In United States

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Uncensored U. S. reports from both Italy and France reveal the amazing fact that the United States is more popular with the Italians than with the French.

Our friendship with France is deep-rooted, extends from Lafayette to Pershing, was furthered by a hand-picked friend of Roosevelt's as ambassador, plus two cargoes of food. But the United States has never been more disliked by the French.

In fact, France today is more pro-Axis than Italy.

There are several reasons for this. The French are a proud people. Their army was acclaimed the best in the world, supposedly unbeatable. And when it crumbled over-night, the French expected that the British, with almost no army, could not last a week.

But almost one year has passed since the fall of France, and the British are still fighting. Result: French leaders have had to give explanations to justify themselves. Their two chief excuses are (1) the British pulled their airplanes away from the French army; (2) the United States refused to supply the French with airplanes though now giving them to the British.

Real fact was that the United States provided France with far more planes than we did the British (some still being at Martinique). It is true, of course, that the British did withdraw their planes at the end, but only after Churchill had definite information that French leaders intended to surrender.

Net result: the French are bitter against both the United States and Britain; many would welcome a German victory.

U. S. A.—Another France?

MOST arresting Jackson Day speech was delivered in Atlanta, Georgia, the president's "second state," where ex-Governor O. Max Gardner was especially picked as speaker. Well worth repetition, one portion of his speech read:

"What a pity that we do not know the full tragedy of France. She lies utterly prostrate, dying, stabbed and bleeding to death from the inside.

"In this connection, it seems we might well remember the story of the fabled eagle that lay dying on the plains. In the hour of agony, its suffering was magnified when it discovered that the shaft that had pierced its vitals had been guided by a feather fallen from its own wing.

"Was the shaft that pierced the vitals of France guided by the forces of Hitler, or was it guided by the misguided of France?"

Two chief factors caused the fall of France: (1) sabotage by labor; (2) the refusal of big business to put national defense ahead of profits.

Today, some of the same sort of labor strikes and slowdowns which killed France are rampant in the U. S. A.—led by a minority of labor, but with devastating effect upon production.

Today, many U. S. big business leaders, as Le Creusot and the Comite des Forges did in France, are putting die-hard labor policies and dividends ahead of patriotism.

Dividends vs. Wages.

MORE altruistic than most big business leaders is Dollar-a-Year Man Edward Stettinius, chairman of the giant U. S. Steel Corporation, which maintains cordial relations with SWOC, a CIO union. Last year U. S. Steel paid stockholders $100,000,000. This year it should pay about $156,000,000.

But now the Steel Workers union is demanding a wage boost. This new boost would cost the company just about $56,000,000—or just about the extra amount the company proposed to pay in dividends.

Stettinius wants to pay the additional dividends. Labor wants to get the additional pay. Everybody wants something—just as did the unhappy people of France.

$1-a-Year Probe.

SENATOR HARRY TRUMAN is a friendly, mild-mannered Missourian, but to certain Defense brass-hats and One Dollar Men he's an ogre with horns.

Truman is author and chairman of the special senate committee to probe defense contracts, and he is determined that what happened in France won't happen here. He already has some interesting data.

Truman has discovered that a certain One Dollar Man on the staff of OPM Production Chief John Biggers has a very large financial interest in the industry which he handles for the OPM. This One Dollar Man did a lot of talking about a looming shortage in his own industry and the likelihood of a jump in prices. Then, abruptly he changed his tune when another big gun in the same industry declared there was no danger of a shortage and no need for a price boost.

Another item in Truman's files concerns a Biggers assistant who had a hot brush with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and was required by a federal court to fork over a considerable sum of money. This gentleman's firm was employed by the army in drawing plans for one of its largest Midwest plants.

(Note: In the last few days this expert resigned because of "poor health.")

"Cockeyed Law."

STILL a third Biggers lieutenant under quiet scrutiny is A. R. Glancy, former head of the Oakland Motor company and former vice president of General Motors. Glancy was a promoter of the social security payroll scare in the closing days of the 1936 election. Truman has a copy of a letter sent out by Glancy, under the heading "To employers desiring to assist in defeating the New Deal." It suggested using payroll envelopes to propagandize employes, as follows:

"Here is an effective way to win support for Landon and Knox. If you use envelopes in your payroll, either to contain currency or checks, or can make use of the envelopes in your payroll; we will be glad to supply you with all you may need, if you will use them as indicated. . . . This way of bringing another 'cockeyed New Deal law' to the workers' attention is worthy of your immediate co-operation."

As head of the OPM ordnance division under Biggers, Glancy supervises the mammoth ordnance program of the army and navy.

Note—The president himself is doing some private checking on One Dollar Men. Since his recent order that all such appointees be submitted to him for approval, he has turned down three and held up five pending more information.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I have lived in Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska, New York and New Jersey, and I have never encountered such ugly, unpredictable, unfriendly climate as is to be endured in this metropolitan area.

This makes for good business with raincoat sellers and doctors, but it is tough on the rest of mankind. Usually the wind is blowing a gale. Summer, which really is a myth, is confined to two months of sickening, steaming hot weather. The streets are ovens. Spring is a four-month period of raw, ugly winds and rains. Only fall is decent—that is, from October to Thanksgiving is really beautiful. After Thanksgiving, you may have alternate days of freezing and semi-tropical temperatures.

THERE is a heartbreaking entreaty on the back of the city's garbage trucks and on those wicker wire baskets on the street corners. The signs on the trucks say, "Please keep your city clean. Help us to keep New York streets clean." The baskets have a sort of rhyme which says, "By the Law Abide, place trash inside."

But, New York defeats its own purpose. Almost every week some occasion takes place that calls for the throwing of confetti and ticker tape from the skyscraper windows. Maybe the occasion doesn't really call for it, but it gets it just the same. They are still trying to clear up the mess that resulted from the St. Patrick's Day parade down Fifth avenue of the Irish. By the time this is out of the way something else will take place that will send torn telephone-directories out of windows to be strewn over a third of the city. New York spends fortunes every year in fleets of trucks and workers beautifying its thoroughfares; and New Yorkers toss thousands of dollars worth of paper from windows every month. This isn't even a game any more; it's a habit.

MEN like Eddie Cantor do not have to identify their names with "stunts" to gain publicity. When they announce, therefore, that this person or that is a Grade-A prospect for the stage, or the screen, their recommendations merit prompt consideration.

Such is the case with a 13-year-old girl named Olive Major, whom Cantor discovered and believes has the talent for greatness. Her dreams encompass opera. Grand opera. It fascinates her to hear of past operatic greats, but bores her to travel around looking at landmarks.

Cantor was so pleased when he first heard her sing that he arranged to have her study voice for six months. Then he put her on one of his programs. Thousands have saluted her, and today she is in New York for her first visit to the big city. She is a product of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Serious music appears more popular in New York than in many seasons. . . . All concert soloists report tremendous returns to favor. Vladimir Horowitz appeared this week in Carnegie hall and tickets ran short. Standees were admitted until the walls seemed to bulge and then the law stepped in and stopped the sale. You can have only just so many standees in a concert hall. Reason, fire hazard.

A Farmer's Diary

A Rest for Mother

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A FARMER'S DAY, out in the fields in spring, when the sun shines warm and sweet winds blow and early birds are singing, is more a pleasure than a task, I think, compared with what a busy farm woman, with a family, must do inside.

From the time the school bus arrives in the morning until its return late in the afternoon, my wife has, in addition to household duties, the care of three rollicking, teasing, scrapping buckaroos. No two days are alike, but one thing is sure. There will be something doing every minute.

I came in at evening and found the second brother with a bandaged head, through which a gory hint of blood was seeping. He sat in the highchair, looking cherubic, and pointed proudly to his injury.

"It was the slingshot did it—and a stone. He didn't mean to hit me—he was shootin' a crocodile, down in the pond. I didn't cry much, but it nearly knocked me out. He carried me in and while Mom was fixin' me, Baby opened the cupboard door and got the sugar bowl and spilled it all down inside his clothes. Was he a sticky mess! Mom spanked him and scrubbed him off and put him to bed—and he's asleep yet."

"Did anything else happen?"

"No—not quite. But brother might have hung himself. We were hunting eggs and he climbed up high to look in the feedin' rack and got his whole head fast and there he hung. I ran for Mama just as fast as I could, but when we got there he had wiggled loose and was down in the manger with his face all red. It scared him pretty bad. Mom was scared too. We didn't hunt the eggs. You'll have to do it. They're right where the chickens laid 'em."

So I hunted the eggs—and after supper when the sun was nearly down, young daughter took over the home work where mother had left off and my wife and I went for the mail and a little drive that circled generously around the neighboring hills and home again.

This little habit has, for us, great relaxation. Along some quiet, scenic country road, we stop and read our mail and perhaps divide between us a bottle of creamed buttermilk—or munch two perfect, luscious, chilly apples.

Returning to our home an hour later, from the opposite direction, the heads silhouetted like stairsteps against the yellow lighted windows, look not like little demons, but like wee sleepy boys.

An hour away does a woman a world of good.

70 OUT OF 165 RECEIVE JOBS

Oberlander Says New Defense Training Class Being Organized at School.

V. H. Oberlander, supervisor of national defense classes at Mansfield Senior high school announced today that approximately 70 of the last class of 165 had been placed in jobs.

The members of the class had studied in machine shop, gas and electric welding, electric shop practice and automobile mechanics, according to Oberlander. Approximately 60 per cent of the group which finished training were placed, he stated.

New classes are now starting at the school in the above fields. More than 140 are now enrolled in the classes, Oberlander said.

In addition to the National Defense classes at the school, training in woodwork, automotive work, welding and blacksmithing is now being given to members of the CCC camp, on the Lucas road, Oberlander stated.

Hours for training at the Senior high school are from 4 p. m. to 6 a. m. The spring term, of 13 weeks will be completed July 27.

LUCAS COUNCIL STUDIES WATER RATE INCREASE

Officials Claim Present Rate Insufficient To Meet Operating Costs.

LUCAS — Water customers of the village of Lucas face prospects of a substantial increase in service rates within a few months if any of several different scales discussed at a joint meeting of the village council and board of public affairs Thursday night are adopted.

According to members of the board of public affairs the present rate of 90 cents per month for the first 4,500 gallons and 35 cents for each additional 1,000 gallons does not produce sufficient revenue to maintain operation and repairs of the water works plant and lines.

Although the water mains were installed only seven years ago, several sections of pipe will have to be replaced within the next few months at a cost of several thousands of dollars, board members claim.

The mains have sprung many leaks during the past winter and it has become impractical and too expensive to continue repairing lines.

The board of public affairs failed to recommend a new rate schedule, and the village councilmen took no action Thursday night.

Members of the board are Paul Hawkins and Robert Mowers. A third member, to be appointed to fill a vacancy, has not yet been named by Mayor L. M. Smith.

Work was started this week on the erection of an addition to the McCready Furniture store here.

The new building will house the firm's offices and a carpet and rug display room, it is announced.

Frank Fulton, Lucas carpenter contractor, is in charge of the construction project.

BUCYRUS—Turnover of automobile sales in Crawford county during March by far exceeded March 1940, with one day of the month breaking all previous records for a single day, according to Clerk of Courts Joe Royer's monthly certificate of title report.

There were 1,300 titles issued during March compared with 1,074 in March 1940. Revenue from the titles totaled $1,373.65 of which $81 was clear profits for the office.

The last day of March was the day when all records were broken with 151 issuances of titles against the previous single day high mark of 106. A year ago March 31 brought 78.

BOARD REVISES PURCHASE PLAN

Commissioners Change Way of Ordering Equipment and Supplies.

Acting on the recommendation of State Examiner Tom Withers, county commissioners today had approved a change in the purchase plan for county offices which will require Clerk P. S. Carroll of the board of commissioners to make four copies of all purchase orders approved by the commissioners.

Commissioners also planned to start keeping a separate journal for county home activities after Withers cited a state law requiring a county home journal. For a number of years entries pertaining to the county home have been included in the commissioners' regular journal.

Asserting that the county purchasing system needed revision, Withers said a copy of each purchase order should be filed with the commissioners, one with the auditor, another with the person from whom the purchase is made, and the fourth with the official who requested the purchase.

Carroll said the county recently ordered 10,000 purchase order blanks in triplicate and commissioners now must order 10,000 more single sheets to comply with the examiner's recommendation.

Petit Jurors to Convene Monday, Hear Will Contest

With seven cases on the calendar for next week, the Richland county petit jury is scheduled to reconvene at 9 a. m. Monday to hear a suit contesting a will.

The case, one of two on the calendar for Monday, involves the will of the late Clarren S. Carnahan. The action was filed by Nema Cook, a daughter, against Bessie M. Caldwell, Russell F. Carnahan, Carl C. Carnahan, and Josephine Carnahan, legatees in the will.

Also on the schedule for Monday is a suit for $100 commission for handling a real estate deal. Wilmer L. Gross seeks that amount from Ollie Tingley.

The schedule calls for hearings daily through Friday. Most of the cases involve actions for money judgments.

(A cluster of news scoops that have reached this desk 25 years prematurely, arranged to give you an idea of what the chatter column will look like a quarter of a century from now.)

JOAN KELLY, whose mother (the former Brenda Frazier), was society's glamor girl for twelve unbroken years, will be next season's most-photographed debutante . . . Wendell Willkie, who used to run for president in the old days, will shortly plane off to cement relationships between Zanzibar and the U. S. . . .

Frank Capra's son, Oscar—named after the Academy award—has been cast as the star of the next film Gary Cooper will direct . . .

William Saroyan is said to have a plot in mind for his next play, but promises to omit it by the time he gets around to writing the production, which he probably just did while we were writing this paragraph . . . Howard Hughes flew around the world again yesterday.

Hollywood will bow to public opinion and revert to double features. The triple-feature idea was successfully fought by Sam Goldwyn, who hasn't made a grammatical error since he fired his press agent . . . Cobina Wright IV won a thousand-dollar bill at the Stork Club's last balloon night . . .

Peggy Hopkins Joyce has been secretly married for 22 years . . . They say Cole Porter's next tune is lifted bodily from an old Cole Porter tune originally inspired by his "Begin the Beguine" . . .

The Brass Rail pickets finally wore through the sidewalk and fell into the 49th st. BMT subway station . . . Tommy Manville has held over his latest blond for another year of marriage.

Alexander Woollcott is quoted as saying that the theater is not what it used to be, but then, it never was . . . The Metropolitan Opera company will not ask for funds this year. Edward Johnson raised enough money personally by appearing on radio quiz programs . . .

There was an empty table in Lindy's last night . . . Franchot Tone and Joan Crawford are reviving those old rumors . . . Victor Mature had three different dates last night—one at the Coq Rouge in New York, one at the Palmer House in Chicago, and one at Ciro's in Hollywood . . .

John L. Lewis is getting bald over his left eye . . . Mahatma Gandhi, the 47-pound Indian hero, is not eating again. Not because of the British, but because of his dietician, Gaylord Hauser . . . It's a sellout for the Helen Wills Moody-Helen Jacobs match next week at Forest Hills.

After all these years, Guy Lombardo won't return to the Hotel Roosevelt grill. A spokesman for the hostelry said the orchestra had been there so long the customers hereafter will be able to dance to its music from memory . . .

The Arthur Hornblows (Myrna Loy) are denying those rumors . . . Chic Farmer is the new society photographer at the Old Rumanian . . .

Lois Andrew opens at Loew's State next week with her eleven grandchildren, some of whom look older than she does . . . Broadway Rose will open a dress shop on the site of the old Radio City Music Hall . . . The rhumba is losing popularity — but then, they've been saying that since 1941 . . .

They say the Giants have their best chance in 30 years to win the National League pennant now that Bill Terry has resigned . . .

Greta Garbo will shelve her second husband and do a George S. Kaufman comedy on Broadway . . . Eleanor Roosevelt's lecture tour next week will include London, Moscow, Bombay, Tokio and Sydney.

Sports circles whisper again that champion Joe Louis will toss in his gloves for keeps, but Bill Corum says he doubts it . . . Robert Moses wants to move the new Aquarium back to the old Battery . . .

The bustle is coming back . . . And they say debbies will wear hats again this year . . . Gargantua's son will be honored at Leon and Eddie's Sunday celebrity night . . .

It's rumored that Barbara Hutton has finally accepted Cary Grant and is wearing his $345,000,000,000 engagement ring, which he purchased from the Countess Di Frasso . . .

Milton Berle wisecracks that the reason a chicken crosses the road is to get to the other side. Cute, but vaguely familiar—isn't it . . . A new night club due next season will feature a sensational motif: Zebra stripes—but on live zebras!

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — The Motion Picture Mothers, Inc., had a party the other evening. It was quite a shindig, with a show by Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney, Grace Hayes and son Peter Lind Hayes and other entertainers and dancing for all.

MPM, Inc., is a charity organization with a sure-fire approach. One of its objectives is to see that movie old-timers get a living out of the movies, and the technique is a demonstration of the literal truth that charity begins at home.

ROBBIN COONS

A Mama, for instance, tackles her son who happens to be a movie director. "Now son," says Mama, "here's a case that needs attention, and I know there's a spot for her in that picture you're doing. What about it?"

And what son—be he director, star, or producer—is going to talk to Mama?

* * *

Burgess Meredith was dressing to keep a date with Ginger Rogers in "Tom, Dick, and Harry," and was having trouble finding a coat both he and Garson Kanin, the director, liked.

Kanin suggested, guilelessly, "I think it should be one like mine."

"I'll wear yours, then," said Buzz. Kanin forked over. (His draft call awaits only completion of the picture anyway.)

But this is an interesting habit of Meredith's. "It helps me get into character better," he explains. As Tom, or Dick, or Harry (I never can remember which) Meredith wears few of his own clothes. He strolls around the set looking over the crew and others, selects a sweater worn by one man, a shirt from another, trousers from another—and puts the finger on the desired article. He swaps his own clothes for them.

DISCOVER NERVE QUALITY WHICH AIDS CIVILIANS

Scientists Use Tests on Dogs To Explain Bravery Under Conditions of War.

ITHICA, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Discovery of a nerve quality that explains civilian bravery was announced today at Cornell university.

The work as done on dogs, but it clears up the big human surprise of the present war, the ability of civilians to stand bombing.

Stolid dogs that were expected to be brave turned cowards, while high-strung animals, types most resembling humans, uncovered a surprise toughness of nerve fiber.

The experiments were made by Dr. W. T. James, of the psychology department. The dogs were put through two kinds of "life," one resembling peacetime, the other war.

Peacetime was a routine existence, in which the sound of a bell meant a pan of food would be presented to the dog.

Bassethounds, a round-bodied type, responded to this treatment with growing ennui and sluggishness.

German shepherds were different. They were excited all the time about the possibilities of getting something to eat.

The wartime conditions were stimulated by something that is like the suspense in being bombed. A bell sounded. Five seconds later a mild electric shock pricked the dog's leg.

The dogs learned to meet this period of suspense and by lifting the leg, to avoid the shock.

But in the next step the surprises began. The dogs legs were weighted so that more and more muscular effort was needed to lift them from the floor to avoid a shock.

It was here that the stolid Bassethounds tried to run. Their nerves went to pieces. They could not stand the suspense and the prickling.

But the shepherds kept their heads. They tugged mightily and escaped the shocks. They didn't try to run.

When the shocks became more intensive, the shepherds showed another unexpected nerve quality. They developed a "tolerance." They seemed really to be able to grin and bear it. But the stolid Bassethounds never seemed to get used to the electrical stimulus.

COUNTY GIVEN $27,000 IN TAXES

Allocation Same as Last Year Despite Increase in Receipts.

Despite a gain in Richland county sales tax collections for the first three months of this year over the first quarter of 1940, the county received approximately the same amount back from the state for local government operation as it did last year, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

The county today had received $27,000 from the state for the first tehree months of this year and prepared to distribute it immediately to the local sub-divisions.

Wolfe said the average of $9,000 a month for the first quarter was about the same as the county received in 1940. It is expected that the $9,000 average allocation will be maintained during the year.

So far in 1941, the county's sales tax receipts amount to $125,800, an increase of $8,381 over the first quarter of last year.

SUPPORT CHANGE IN OHIO BUREAU

Law Enforcement Groups Back Campaign to Transfer Identification Office.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Support of virtually every law enforcement organization in the state was reported today in a renewed campaign to remove the Ohio bureau of criminal identification and investigation from London prison farm, where it is manned almost entirely by convicts.

The latest proposal would place the bureau in Columbus, with a staff of 38 civilians and a biennial budget of $167,000. During the last two years the bureau spent $24,744, with a personnel of 62 prisoners and five civilians, including O. H. Cornwell, chief.

"Permitting prisoners to handle records of the bureau is an absolute contradiction of good police policy," Cornwell asserted. "Many police departments refuse to co-operate with us because of this. As a result we are entirely handicapped."

Cornwell said files of the bureau currently contained 891,073 sets of fingerprints, including those of every known Ohio criminal; more than 1,100,000 cross-index file records of names and aliases, 700,000 criminal record files, and more than 45,400 photographic negatives.

Cornwell said active support of the appropriation had been volunteered by the Ohio Prosecuting Attorneys' association; Ohio Association of Police Chiefs; Buckeye Sheriff's association; Ohio State Marshals association; Fraternal Order of Police, the Ohio and International associations of Identification Officers, and the State Highway patrol.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY PASSES 20 LAWS IN 3 MONTHS OF SESSION

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The 94th Ohio general assembly, entering its fourth month, has enacted 20 laws and adopted two joint resolutions.

While the enactments represent less than 2 per cent of the 1,012 bills introduced, the Republican leadership appears pleased with the situation.

All the important legislation, they said today, is proceeding at a satisfactory pace, and a higher record for passing minor measures—"cats and dogs," as they're known in legislative parlance—might indicate a lack of serious deliberation.

The house and senate passed 10 bills yesterday before adjourning for the week-end. Further action is necessary, however, before the measures goes to the governor for his signature.

They included legislation to place under state regulation the approximately 2,000 private homes operated for care of the aged and mentally and physically infirm.

These homes would have to pay $5 annually for a license from the state welfare department and submit to inspection by the health and industrial relations departments and the state fire marshal.

The regulatory bill was passed unanimously by the house and sent to the senate.

The house also approved bills creating a state natural resources board and prohibiting the manufacture, possession or sale of slugs for vending and other coin machines.

The senate passed bills permitting cities and counties to borrow money for participating in the surplus commodity stamp plan and extending for two years the right of local governments to vote on extra taxes outside the 10-mill limitation for welfare poor relief or tuberculosis hospitals.

NO GAS LEAKS

Probe Shows Gasoline Fumes In City Sewage System.

City and Ohio Fuel Gas officials announced today that the gasoline fumes in the sewer system in the north end of the city Wednesday had run out of the system through manholes and the city sewage disposal plant.

First reported as natural gas, tests proved that the fumes were from gasoline. Fire Chief Charles Seeburger directed the work of flushing the sewers with water to remove the gas. He also warned gasoline stations in the area to check against possible leaks.

The affected area spread from East Sixth street and Mulberry streets out toward the sewage treatment plant. The tendency of the gas to run down toward the plant instead of rising also indicated that the fumes were gasoline and not natural gas, officials said.

Mansfielders were warned by the Richland County Auto Club today of a new traffic hazard in this vicinity which will probably exist throughout the emergency period. Many military motor caravans will be moving through Mansfield on their way from station to station in the Fifth Corps area. But should a Mansfielder meet a military caravan he should remember that the military has the right of way.

The sheriff found the meat cached along a fence beside a county road north of Mansfield, but he has received no report of any meat being stolen in the county recently. PLAN TO MAKE NATION LARDER FOR AXIS FOES

Officials Convert Agriculture Economy, To Hold Price Levels By Purchases.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The administration's farm program was converted to a war-time basis today to make the United States the "larder" as well as the "arsenal" of democracies.

Prices for pork, dairy and poultry products will be pegged at higher levels during the next two years to stimulate production so Americans will be assured of adequate food supplies and help can be given the anti-Axis nations in feeding their civilian and military populations.

Officially, the undertaking was termed "expansion of the ever-normal granary program into a food program designed to assure ample supplies for the United States, Great Britain and other nations resisting aggression."

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard announced the new plan last night and said the department would purchase on the open market pork, dairy and poultry products to support long-term prices (Chicago basis) at the following approximate levels through June 30, 1943:

Hogs, $9 per hundred weight; dairy products, on the basis of butter, 31 cents per pound; chickens, 15 cents, and eggs, 22 cents a dozen.

The expanded program, he said, also provides continuation for 1941 and 1942 of the existing loan program which puts a bottom of 61 cents a bushel under corn;

Continuation of the policy of making loan corn available to producers at the loan rate plus carrying charges;

Permitting producers in commercial corn areas to increase acreage up to their usual total, without receiving corn payments;

No corn marketing quotas for the 1941 corp.

The program was announced shortly after the senate had passed a record $1,340,610,744 agriculture appropriation bill for fiscal 1942 after increasing to $450,000,000 provision for parity price payments. The bill will go to conference with the house, which voted against $450,000,000 total in favor of a budget recommendation for $212,000,000.

All of City's 4 New Police Cars Placed In Use

Mansfield police swung all four of its new cruisers into action today. Two have been in use since last Thursday but the other two were delayed until the installation of new radio receivers. The receivers were received yesterday and installed, according to Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

The new cars are expected to make the city a saving in the upkeep of the department's motor vehicle division. Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced that the $17,000 which he formerly issued as the cost of repairs for the old cruisers included the upkeep of the department's entire list of vehicles. Two motorcycles are included with the four cruisers.

In addition to repairs, the figure represents the replacement of tires, batteries and other accessories. Breaking down the department's cost, Crafton issued the following figures:

Cruiser repairs, $650.17; tires, batteries and other cruiser needs, $297.40; gasoline, $1,555.65; gas and repairs for motorcycles, $319.62.

The four new cruisers were bought at the cost of $4,300 Council transferred an extra $73 appropriated for their purchase back into the general fund Tuesday night.

MARY JANE CURTISS TELLS WEDDING DATE

Thirty-Two Guests Learn of Approaching Marriage When Miss Dorothy Curtiss Entertains Thursday Evening.

AT A PARTY Thursday evening for 32 guests announcement was made of the wedding date which has been selected by Miss Mary Jane Curtiss, 400 West Fifth street, and her fiance, Robert T. Freeman. The two have chosen Saturday, April 12, as their wedding day, the ceremony to take place in the Central Methodist church at 9:30 a. m.

Miss Dorothy Curtiss, sister of the bride, entertained the group at the Susie Janis home, Park avenue west road. When refreshments were served at a large U-shaped table, Misses Dorothy Crawford and Norma Johnston pulled white satin ribbons which separated the center floral pieces and revealed a miniature bridal couple. Capsules in individual nosegay bouquet cakes told the wedding date. Pastel colors were used for the table appointments. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of gardenias by the hostess.

Bridge and Chinese checkers were the diversions with prizes being awarded to Misses Helen G. Myers, Leona Miles, Hazel Manner, Norma Johnston, Betty Thompson and Wilma Blaney.

Miss Curtiss and her mother, Mrs. Cloyd Curtiss presented the honoree with a gift of crystal.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Curtiss. She has been a teacher at Brinkerhoff school and received her education from Senior high school and Ohio university, where she received a B. S. degree in education. She is a member of the Kappa Phi sorority and the national honorary educational fraternity, Kappa Delta Pi.

Mrs. Richard Lersch of Cleveland was an out-of-town guest present. Parties are being planned in honor of Miss Curtiss. Meatless Menu For Lent

By BETSY NEWMAN

I am giving you several meatless menus for the Lenten season. It is often difficult, I know, to eliminate meat from menus when you have been used to serving it almost daily, so I hope these suggestions will help.

Today's Menu.

Tomatoes Stuffed with Eggs and Corn Flakes
Baked Potatoes Spinach
Mixed Pickles Rhubarb Pie
Coffee or Tea

* * *

Tomatoes Stuffed With Eggs And Corn Flakes.

8 medium sized tomatoes
4 eggs
¾ cup corn flakes
1¼ cups milk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine.
Salt, pepper

Cut thin slice from stem end of each tomato and remove part of pulp. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Beat eggs slightly, add milk and butter, put in double boiler over hot water and cook until thick, stirring very little and not letting water in lower part of double boiler to boil. Add ½ cup corn flakes and season to taste. Fill tomatoes with mixture, sprinkle with buttered corn flakes, and baked in moderate oven—350° F.— until tomatoes are soft, about 20 minutes.

Rhubarb Custard Pie.

2 cups cooked rhubarb
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ pint milk
Nutmeg or cinnamon to taste
Pastry

Cook cut up rhubarb with just enough water to prevent burning, rub through a sieve and add sugar (you may need more than the ½ cup if rhubarb is very sour), and spice. Beat eggs—yolks and whites separately—add yolks to milk, stir in flavored rhubarb, and fold in stiffly-beaten whites of eggs. Line a deep pie plate with pastry, pour in filling and put strips of pastry lattice-fashion over top. Bake in 375° oven about ½ hour.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"That's the thing that's bothering me," I said. "Lillian will need so much, and I shall be able to give her so little."

"How do you know what you'll be able to give her until you've seen Mary?" Dicky countered reasonably "And you ought to know this, that no one beside Marion and Harry is nearer to her than you are. If there is any comfort or strength for her, you are the only one that can give it to her."

"I suppose you're right," I said dully.

"Of course I'm right," my husband said, and neither of us spoke again until we reached the garage where we had asked directions for telephoning.

The attendant, with his faith in human nature patently restored—at least where we were concerned—serviced the car, wiped the windshield deftly, took the payment and his tip, and sent us on our way with a broad gratified smile. It was not until we were at least a mile on our homeward journey that Dicky spoke.

"Aren't you a bit curious about the artistic whoppers I've conjured up for your use with Helena and Lillian?" he asked, with an injured air. "Just think of the salving you can give your conscience You'll just be repeating what I tell you, and you won't have any responsibility whatever."

"You are very kind," I told him demurely, "and I am intensely curious — and interested. Please te me what I'm to say."

"I'd hate to have you tell me what you'll be thinking when I get through," he retorted. "But here goes!"

He paused as if to marshall his words, and then went on.

"I'll apologize for our being late," he began, "first by explaining about the garage to which we felt we ought to go, and then by telling them that you couldn't wait until you got back before calling the farmhouse to find out how the kids were. I'll accompany the tale with some tall and fancy kidding about your telephoning, which I hope you will take in the spirit in which it will be intended."

"You don't need to begin the kidding now," I told him. "Get on with your story."

"A remark like that is beneath my contempt," he said loftily. "I shall go on from there, with a plausible tale of Dad's desire that you attend to some very important business in New York for him, something that has come up since you left home. I shall tell you that he wished you to be in the city the first thing in the morning, and that accordingly we looked up trains and found that you could get one out at eight o'clock. How does that strike you?"

"It couldn't be better," I said with truth, "and it involves a minimum of falsehood."

"That's the least of my worries," my husband said with a laugh, "but I thought it would appeal to you In fact the only falsehood is the statement that you called the farmhouse. Everything else is the truth. Dad certainly does want you to be in the city in the morning, and wants you to attend to things for him. And there is no need whatever for you to mention Mary to Helena. So your conscience ought to rest easy."

"I am afraid I put it to sleep a long while back," I told him. "But what have you evolved as an excuse to Lillian for not coming to her tonight?"

"Exactly nothing." he said, "for the reason that you haven't the slightest idea what's going to be your reaction after you've seen Mary."

There was something especially significant in his voice.

"Just what do you mean by that?" I asked.

"It's probably far-fetched," he said slowly, "but there might be an interpretation of that letter which would send you, Lillian and Harry out in a hurry tonight."

Getting Along On $25 Per Possible

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The following letter came to me a day or two ago from a young man:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"When Ellen promised to marry me, I was getting $35 a week, which I thought would be adequate for a beginning. But my firm lost a lot of business and had to let some of us go. So I got another job., which pays me only $25 a week with chance for advancement.

"It's a good firm and they're square shooters. I want to stick by them but the question is: Can we get along on that amount and not learn to hate each other?

"Right now my fiancee has a job in an office, and as she isn't in the best of health I had hoped that she could give up her job when she marries me. She says she doesn't know much about housekeeping, but is willing to learn.

"What has been your experience with young couples who tried to make a go of it on twenty-five a week?

"JACK."

As I've said so many times in this column when young people have asked me what amount is necessary on which to begin housekeeping, it depends on the couple.

If a girl has been brought up to be thrifty and to consider waste a crime, $25 a week would be ample. Then there's the other kind. Some girls feel that life would be a mockery unless their young men take them to swell restaurants for meals and drinks, and then dance afterwards until all hours of the morning fortifying themselves with more drinks meantime. To them, $25 a week would be inadequate.

If Ellen doesn't know much about housekeeping it would be well for her to enroll in a domestic science class without loss of time. As you want her to resign her job anyhow, it might be well for her to join one of these classes immediately. She should go into the matter thoroughly. The government pamphlets which I mention in my budget will help her out.

Your fiancee also should learn how to keep accounts and budget her time as well as the family finances. Old houses which have been turned into flats are apt to be less expensive and more roomy than new buildings which boast the latest gadgets in the way of modern improvements.

Don't beggar yourself in the beginning, buying expensive furniture. Unpainted furniture now comes in excellent shapes—reproductions of early American models, in the best possible taste. And it's lots of fun to paint these so that your rooms will be harmonious as to color. I know all about this from experience, as I've done a good deal of furniture painting myself.

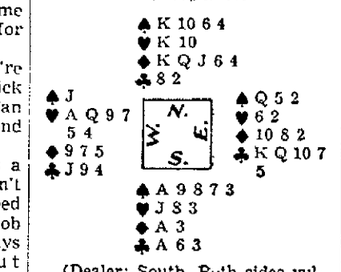
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T LET IT DOWN YOU

You have to get used to discouraging developments if you play bridge. Sometimes correct bidding or play will get you a worse score than incorrect play, as the hidden factor of luck is always operating one way or another Duplicate players in particular will find that occasional hands give a better score to somebody who furnishes unsound tactics, whereas yours may have been infinitely superior.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

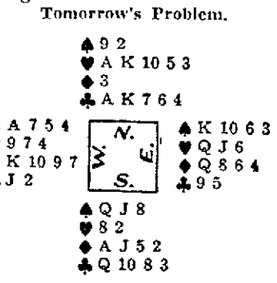
South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♥	2 ♠	3 ♣
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Bidding about like that occurred at most tables of a duplicate game. All of the declarers made their contracts, plus either one or two overtricks. It was peculiar that in every case the weaker players got the two overtricks and the stronger ones got only one overtrick each.

In each case the club J was led, South winning it with his A and then leading the spade 3 to the K, which dropped the J. Right then came the difference. The weaker players next led the spade 4 from the dummy and, when East failed to cover, finessed it successfully. They followed with the A, dropping the Q, and then ran diamonds, discarding two clubs and a heart and leading toward the heart K. Thus they lost only one trick, to the heart A.

The better players figured that this method risked the possibility of overtricks. If the trump finesse failed, the defenders could peel off one trick each in hearts and clubs, holding the declarer to four-odd. But they saw a sure method to make one overtrick, and a good chance, at least as good as the other way, to make two. That was by playing the A on the second round of trumps, seeking a drop of the Q. When this failed, they ran three diamonds, discarding one club, then led another from dummy East ruffed with the Q and South discarded his last club. The heart A then remained as the only winner the defenders still had in sight

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the correct way for North to show his two suits are of five cards each?

Those whose birthday it is should be on the eve of a year of surprising achievement with great progress and success in connection with business, writings, publication, travel, communication as well as in all intellectually creative avenues of expression.

"They must be weakening when they call up long-distance to argue contracts," mused Braves Prexy George Satterlee as he studied the holdout situation of Mansfield's Ohio State league club.

"Pat Patterson's mother just called up from Detroit, Mich., to demand that we release her son Schuyler—or—she would go to Judge Branham and see what she could do about getting the boy's release. Since Pat isn't 21 his mother had to sign his papers.

"I told her to see the judge or anyone else, but we would not give the boy his outright release.

"But I also told her we'd be very happy to sell his contract to anybody who might want to buy it.

"Why shouldn't we want to sell it? He won one game and lost nine for us after joining the team late in 1940. (Patterson, for the benefit of those who didn't see him perform, is a right handed flinger.)

"Yep, they must be weakening."

* * *

Says Pat: "I'd rather sit and pout,
Just mark me down as a holdout."

* * *

Satterlee professes to be enthused over a new plan of Joe Donnelly, league president, to have the Ohio State clubs train in Florida next spring.

"It seems a cinch we'd break even on our training expenses down south," says Satterlee. "and it costs us important dough to train at home."

Yes, and the club would start the season as total strangers to Mansfield fans. I can't see much advantage to the plan, but "you never can tell 'till you've tried it, and then you are apt to be wrong," as Mr. Kipling said about a more interesting subject.

* * *

And a news hand-out from Kent State university says Bill Bolantz, "popular Mansfielder," is being labeled the outstanding athlete on the Kent campus.

Bill already has 10 varsity awards, and expects to land two more this spring in baseball and track.

* * *

Here's another way of putting that old baseball axiom of: "You're a hero today and a bum tomorrow."

From baseball diamonds comes the word:
You cop the cheers, or bag the bird.

COMMISSION REJECTS APPEAL OF BOXER

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Columbus boxing commission has turned thumbs down on pleas to reinstate the suspended Freddie Pope of Columbus, country's sixth ranking bantamweight, and his manager, Dr. Charles E. Paul.

Pope cancelled a 10-round bout here with Cleveland Brown of Dayton last Tuesday because of illness, but fought a six-rounder in Louisville, Ky., Monday with Jue Yee Kong of San Francisco. The commission ruled that Pope had run out of his Columbus fight and ordered the suspension.

Billy Conn Spots Foe 20 Pounds

Battle Gunnar Barlund In Test For Louis.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Billy Conn makes another swing tonight along the trail of other great "little men"—Fitzsimmons, Corbett and the hungry Dempsey of Toledo—by spotting rugged Gunnar Barlund nearly 20 pounds in a 12 round qualifying bout for a shot at Joe Louis next June.

Not long out of the light heavyweight decision, the handsome Pittsburgh Irishman was a 7 to 1 favorite to extend his three year winning streak to 18, although his opponent is by far the best of the natural-sized heavyweights he has trained on for his big moment with Louis.

* * *

Twenty pounds is not prohibitive for a heavyweight to give away. Yet both Conn and Manager Ray regard Barlund as the perfect trial-horse for Billy, who hasn't been up against many big men. The Gunnar is just about the size of Louis. He packs a harder wallop than any foe Billy has met. He's a veteran campaigner and crafty with the added incentive of a Louis fight if he can defeat Conn.

If Conn's 180 pounds—possibly less—can stand up with Barlund impressively he believes he's ready for Louis.

"Size," Billy grinned in the dressing room at Trafton's gym, "has nothing to do with it when you get up here."

Both Conn and Ray were evasive on the weight question. Although Billy expected to come in at 180, he may not be much over 175. Barlund will scale just under 200 pounds.

* * *

Drawn by the ballyhoo surrounding Conn and the prospect of an upset, approximately 15,000 fans will pay $30,000 at the stadium gate, according to Promoter Bill Rand.

Shelby Sports Show Profit

Mansfield Game Sets Cage Season Mark.

SHELBY — Athletics at Shelby high school netted a profit of more than $900 during the football and basketball seasons this school year, Supt. C. G. Keck announced today.

The school netted $792 from football, while basketball games only brought in a net profit of $131.

Largest receipts were brought in during the Bucyrus football game. Revenue from this game was $752. Other home games netted the following: Willard, $660, Mount Vernon, $204; Mansfield, $536; and Crestline, played under contract, $50.

In basketball the largest gate receipts came in from the Mansfield game. The home receipts were: Mansfield, $96; Crestline, $76; Ashland, $69; Willard, $85; Bucyrus, $93; Galion, $18; Marion, $79; and Mount Vernon, $75.

* * *

Largest expenditures in both sports were made for equipment and officials. In football the equipment cost was $649 as compared with only $157 in basketball. The officials received $209 in basketball and only $143 in football. This is because there are so many more cage games than on the gridiron.

Expenses in football totaled $1,-294, while revenue was $2,220. Revenue from basketball totaled $648, compared with expenses of $566.

Storck Shies At Presidency

Wants Powers Outlined Under Commissioner.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Club owners in the National football league, at odds over what to do about President Carl Storck, met today to induct Elmer F. Layden as the first commissioner in their 20 year history.

A majority of the league's 10 owners hoped to revise the constitution to grant Layden the final word in any dispute involving the league or any future affiliate.

At the same time, Storck's present one year term as president expires and the election will produce a fight. Despite heavy opposition, the Dayton, O., magnate believes he has a majority behind him.

"I will continue, however, only if we have a definite understanding of the rights and duties of a league president under a commissioner," Storck said.

A vote of six to four is necessary to elect a president. In Layden's case, a change in the constitution is required to create the office of commissioner and such amendments must have a seven to three majority.

Storck indicated there may not be that much of a majority favoring Layden as an all-powerful commissioner, despite reports that all 10 owners finally had agreed to sign Layden's contract calling for $20,000 a year for five years.

Barons Need One Win for Title

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Barons packed a rabbit's foot and all the other charms they could find today before entraining with the Hershey Bears to continue their American league championship playoffs in the Pennsylvania city Saturday night.

* * *

Highly favored after making it two straight last night with a 3 to 1 victory, the Ohioans are determined to wind up the three-out-of-five series o Hershey ice. If necessary, the fourth game will be played ir Hershey Tuesday and the fifth here next Thursday.

* * *

The sturdy Pennsylvanians, beaten 4 to 3 in a first-game overtime, lacked their usual zip last night and the Barons peppered Goalie Nick Damore with 39 shots.

SELECTION OF 1942 ABC JOUST BOOKED

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(U.P.)—Selection of the 1943 tournament city was the chief business before delegates to the annual executive convention of the American Bowling Congress as they assembled today.

Buffalo and Atlantic City were prominent contenders for the meeting. Columbus, O., already has been selected for the 1942 meeting.

Vandy Shows Winning Stuff

Double No-Hit Johnny Locates Plate Again.

GADSDEN, Ala.—(AP)—It's still early April but there's no April fooling in Johnny Vander Meer's long left arm and Manager Bill McKechnie of the world champion Cincinnati Reds is just about willing to bet on that.

Vandy, the red-cheeked Dutch boy from New Jersey, laid the baseball world by the ears back in 1938 by pitching successive no-hit games against Boston and Brooklyn. He was practically the works of the Reds' rise from last place in 1937 to fourth in 1938.

* * *

After that he had trouble. But Vandy never gave up hope.

After yesterday's more or less masterful disposal of the Boston Red Sox at Montgomery by a 5-1 score, Deacon McKechnie said contentedly:

"That boy is going to win a lot of games for us this season. He has more poise and confidence than at any time in the last two years. And his control is improving. He doesn't have a bit of trouble getting his curve over. And it's a honey. Why, he could even waste his fast ball and use his curve as his out pitch."

BROWNS BEAT BEES

FORT SMITH, Ark.—(U.P.)—The St. Louis Browns take on the Boston Bees again today, with Vernon Kennedy scheduled to take the mound for the Brownies. They beat the Bees, 7 to 5, at Texarkana yesterday for a record of seven victories in 13 games.

Propagation of Quail Planned

Measure Considered To Protect Bob White.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Throughout the last two months, the Bob White quail has raised more disturbance in Ohio than Governor Bricker's budget message, the price of winter wheat and the prospect of the Greeks chasing Mussolini into the fourth ward headquarters of the Irish Democrats of Dublin.

* * *

Mention the removal of the quail from the songbird list and immediately you hear the roar of a combination storm, earthquake, five-star final and Buck Rogers in the 25th century.

Now that the Sweeney bill to remove the beloved bird from the songbird list has been defeated, a concentrated movement is on foot in the legislature to appropriate funds for the propagation of the bird—one of the few truly American birds remaining in existence today.

Although nothing definite has been worked out to date, it is fairly certain that Rep. Ralph Siferd, Auglaize county Republican, will introduce a measure—or have one introduced in the senate—to levy funds to protect and propagate the quail which, despite reports to the contrary, is rapidly diminishing in the state.

Wood Hits Sob Stuff Of Scribes

Leader In Master's Says He's Won Title Share.

By HENRY McLEMORE

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(U.P.)—There is a very good chance that this story you are reading now will eventually rank as one of the most novel ever written by a sports writer.

I say this because it deals with Craig Wood, golfer, and yet nowhere in it will there be a reference to his hard luck in finishing second in so many important championships.

Wood, himself, was the one who suggested that I do a story about him without touching the runner-up angle.

"I'd appreciate a story of another sort," Craig said as we talked after his brilliant 66 in the opening round of the Masters' invitation tournament yesterday.

* * *

"I get so sick of reading sob-sisterish stuff about myself that I don't know what to do. I sometimes wonder what the golfing public thinks about me. They must picture me as some poor, benighted old cuss, staggering around the courses of the country with a forlorn look and a broken heart. As a matter of fact, I'm a pretty lucky golfer. I have won more than my share of good championships, and you can't kick about finishing second in such things as the U. S. open, the British open, and the Masters."

* * *

On Craig's suggestion I looked into his past performances, and what he said was true—he has won many a good title.

* * *

To name a few he has won there are the Los Angeles open, the Metropolitan open (he got that last year with the all-time 72 hole tournament score of 264), the Pasadena open (twice), the San Francisco match play open, the Augusta open, the Pine Valley open, the Australian open, the Hawaiian open, and the New Jersey PGA four times. And there are a dozen others.

Nearly 100 Dogs Expected In Meet

Between 75 and 100 entries are expected for the Richland Fish and Game Association 'coon dog field trials Sunday at the Howard Koogle farm five miles east of Mansfield off Route 30, officials of the event said today.

* * *

The trials will have a purse of $80 and three judges will be Martin Hallabrin of Mansfield, Romey Stahl of Galion and Howard Miller of Crestline.

* * *

Among outstanding Richland county dogs expected in the meet are: Ohio Prince, Red Arrow and Speedy Boy, owned by Clyde Moore; Silver Cloud and King Patton, owned by V. M. Close; Red Sail, Lightning Boy, owned by Burt Crowell of Perrysville; Red Star, Drummer Boy and Payday, owned by Johnny Cox, Shelby; and Cryin' Loud, Little Red, and Bawlin' Babe, owned by Fred Ryland, Mansfield.

Mansfield high school lost its track team yesterday.

Tyger tracksters were counting on Jones for anything up to 17 points in the 100 yard dash, low hurdles and shot put.

Baer, Nova Disagree On Dope

Broadway Bookies Quote Slight Odds on Lou.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK — (INS) — There seems to be some slight difference of opinion about that 12-round battle between Max Baer and Lou Nova in Madison Square Garden tonight.

For instance, modest Max says; "I'll flatten that guy sure inside seven, eight rounds."

Lacksdaisical Lou says: "He's the easiest guy in the world to lick. He'll be lucky to answer the bell for the sixth round."

* * *

Most of the professional fight mob say: "Baer must stop him in three or four heats or Nova will grab the Duke."

Promoter Mike Jacobs says: "I don't know who'll win and I care less. All I know is that it looks like the gate will gross $90,000."

Gallery Gus says: "All I know is I hope it's a good fight and I only wish I'm in a spot sometime where I cop 25 per cent like them luggs is getting."

And the Broadway bookies say: "We'll lay seven or take eight on Nova." (Meaning they will give you 7 to 5 or if you want to lay the odds on Nova they'll take Baer on the short end of 8 to 5).

Nova says further that he'd like to win for the sake of his little girl who will celebrate her second birthday tomorrow. And Max, always the sentimentalist, declares he must win for the sake of his little boy.

But the writer has a strong suspicion that both want to win for the sake of some bigger gates to come, although the 25 per cent of a probable $70,000 net they will get for this one is not to be sneezed at.

* * *

Our guess is that Max must win early or not at all and we are inclined to believe Nova will get the decision. But we wouldn't bet a dime on it.

Tourneys Draw Big Receipts

Ohio High School Jousts Become Big Business.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—High school tournament basketball boomed to big business proportions this year, financial reports submitted today by the office of Commissioner H. R. Townsend disclosed.

The state's 1,156 scholastic teams, 911 in class B and 245 in class A, drew a total "gate" of close to $170,000 in their dash to the state title, with Glenford of Perry county taking the class B laurels, and Martins Ferry copping the "A" crown.

* * *

The $170,000 figure is approximate, for no report on the financial "take" at the class A and class B sectional and district meets in Dayton has been filed.

Even without that huge center, which last year contributed $7,409.17 to the fund, the year's tourney receipts of $159,649.88 were ahead of last season's record total of $158,198 02

This season's county meets at 86 spots drew 256,485 fans as compared with 230,893 last year, and the receipts hopped from $78,887.65 to $82,977 77.

With the Dayton district and sectional reports still out, the 1941 receipts for the semi-final meets were slightly under the 1940 figures, $58,566 11 to $63,293.87, but indications were the Gem city would boost that total to a new high.

* * *

The state tourney at Columbus, where 16 supervisors in each class clashed in a three-day meet, drew 34,130 paid customers and $18,106 in cash, as compared with last year's 30,237 fans and receipts of $16,016.50.

The state association took $2,277.70 from the county meets. $11,542.45 from the regional-districts, and $4,094 99 from the state event for a total of $18,015 14. Last year the association profited by $18,084.05, the slight drop this year being caused by higher expenses and bonuses in connection with the state tournament.

Officials, timers, scorers, managers, physicians, police, attendants, printing, trophies and incidentals cost $4,644 79 of the state tourney receipts, the incidentals including a $20 item for "publicity." Team expenses came to $5,394.40, as compared with $5,771.50 in 1940, while this year the bonus paid the teams soared to $5,100 against last year's $4,200.

By districts the county tournaments drew: Central $10,785.27; eastern $10,493.80; northeastern $2,431.65; northwestern $19,860.56; southeastern, $7,198.73; southwestern $22,207.76. Only the class B teams played in those events.

* * *

Sectional-district play drew: central $6,748.26, eastern $8,835.77; northeastern $19,339.22 minus Euclid Shore class A); northwestern $13,152 92; southeastern $4,835.23; and southwestern $5,654.80 (minus all A and B events at Dayton).

Stormy Explodes At Umps

ANDERSON, S. C.—(UP)—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians today faced a problem new to the tribal pilot—the famed explosive qualities of Roy Weatherly's temperament.

* * *

Weatherly, who once collected a $500 bonus last year for not being thrown out of a game, gave Peckinpaugh an initial glimpse of the temper yesterday as the Indians buried the New York Giants under a home-run flood, 11 to 4.

* * *

Roy opened up on Umpire Larry Goetz after he was called out on strikes in the fifth inning To the delight of about 150 Ohio soldiers who were in the crowd, Weatherly blistered the atmosphere all the way back to the bench.

He topped it off with a final blast as he sat down—just too much for Goetz to stand and he ejected Weatherly from the park.

"I've often heard about Weatherly's temper and tongue," said Peckinpaugh "It was sort of interesting to see it unload."

"Of course he's wrong about it I like a lot of spirit and the umpire can be wrong, but Weatherly will have to eliminate some of his more descriptive words."

* * *

Yesterday's tilt was to have been a duel between Bob Feller and Carl Hubbell, but both made poor exhibitions. Feller was rapped for seven hits in six innings. Gee Walker, Hal Trosky and Ken Keltner walloped home runs for the Indians.

* * *

Jim Bagby and Bob Bowman were scheduled to pitch today as the Tribe and Giants met in another exhibition game.

THEATERS

Modern Eve.

Hitting a new high in hilarity Barbara Stanwyck romps her way through "The Lady Eve," opening Saturday at the Ohio, with Henry Fonda as the object of her intentions The story presents Fonda as the scion of a wealthy family who falls in the hands of a gang of cardsharps headed by Miss Stanwyck. He falls in love with her but the bubble bursts when he realizes her real identity. Barbara proves a match for him by posing as a titled Britisher with the aid of Eric Blore, the screen's perfect player of butler roles. The cast includes Charles Coburn, Eugene Pallette, William Demarest and Luis Alberni.

Murder Mysteries.

Murder mysteries, two of them, will hold forth at the Madison beginning Saturday. In "The Mad Doctor," starring Basil Rathbone the sinister villiany of a mad psychiatrist played by Rathbone is combined with the suicide complex of a lovely girl played by Ellen Drew and the appeal of a shrewd newspaper reporter enacted by John Howard, Miss Drew is also the heroine of "The Monster and the Girl," which tells the story of an executed man whose brain is transferred to the skull of a gorilla by a well-meaning scientist Paul Lucas, Phillip Terry and Onslow Stevens are cast.

Fields Ad Libs.

W. C. Fields' ad lib remarks during the filming of "The Bank Dick," now playing at the Ritz were funny to the people on the set but a pain to the script girl. The star's unpremediated bits of comedy enliven the picture as he portrays the kind of role he has always longed to enact, that of a bank detective. Una Merkel plays his daughter and the cast includes Franklin Pangborn, Jessie Ralph and Cora Witherspoon. Exciting stary of Texas cattle rustlers is "Pals of the Silver Sage," with Tex Ritter, the singing cowboy, is showing as the co-attraction.

Strange Adventure.

Studded with such excellent players are Rit Hayworth, Thomas Mitchell and John Qualen, "Angels Over Broadway," starring Douglas Fairbanks, jr., is now playing at the Park. Written by Ben Hecht and produced by author and star the picture presents a foursome in a strange and wonderful adventure. They include Miss Hayworth as a cafe entertainer, Fairbanks as a Broadway wise guy, Mitchell as a dramatist and Qualen as an embezzler. George Anthiel's music highlights the picture. George O'Brien in "Whispering Smith Speaks," is the second feature.

Thwarts Romance.

Laughs and heart throbs are combined as a small town boy falls in love with an entertainer in "Ladies Must Live," starring Wayne Morris and Rosemary Lane at the Majestic. DeWolf Hopper is Rosemary's ex-sweetheart and Roscoe Karns, the friend of Morris, who almost puts the skids under the romance because he believes all night club singers are gold-diggers. Lee Patrick is in the cast and the lovely Lane's role gives opportunity for several new songs. Johnny Mack Brown in "Law and Order," is picture No. 2.
